7.1 Introduction

While the definition of the word 'supply' is inclusive, the legislature has carefully chosen not to use the word/s such as "means", or "means and includes", "shall mean", or "shall include", etc. A careful consideration of the above explanation would indicate that the draftsman is cautious about any transaction of supply that might escape the levy. It is for this reason that despite being exhaustive, the legislature has used the word "includes".

A plain reading of the definition of the word 'supply' contained in Section 7(1) would invite anybody's attention to the 8 words – sale, transfer, barter, exchange, license, rental, lease or disposal. Look at these 8 words – they are arranged in a descending order. Words 2 to 8 were a subject matter of challenge under the erstwhile State-level VAT Laws. This ambiguity has been done away with in the GST Laws. These 8 words together form a 'continuum'. The last 7 words taper-off in their absoluteness starting from the first of the forms of supply, that is, 'sale'.

The Model GST Law released in June 2016 had included the meaning of the term 'Supply' within the clauses of the definition Section. However, in GST law, the term 'supply' is defined by way of a separate and distinct Section. One understands that the meaning attributed to the term "Supply" is of very wide amplitude, but yet, an inclusive one. It must be noted that this term is ordinarily attributable to an 'outward supply', unless the context so requires that the term refers to an inward supply - say in case of importation of services or in respect of transactions without consideration etc. Many things come within 'supply' but not everything is 'supply'. Supply too has boundaries and many transactions are excluded from its grasp. This point to a clear understanding that expression 'supply', although inclusively defined, does have a recipe or a set of ingredients that each transaction must be tested against to see if it is or is not a 'supply'.

The word 'supply' could be understood as actual or implied. Implied supplies are governed by the relevant Schedule. The three pillars of a supply would be:

- (a) subject – viz. goods, services or goods treated as services. One cannot find an instance in the GST statute where a supply of services is treated as a supply of goods.
- (b) place of supply – to identify whether the transaction is an inter-State supply or an intra-State supply
- (c) time of supply – where legislature specifies 'when' the incidence is attracted.

7.2 Analysis

Supply:

- (a) Generic meaning of 'supply': Supply includes all forms of supply (goods and / or services) and includes agreeing to supply when the supply is for a consideration and in the course or furtherance of business (as defined under Section 7 of the Act). It specifically provides for the inclusion of the following 8 classes of transactions:

- (i) Sale
- (ii) Transfer
- (iii) Barter
- (iv) Exchange
- (v) License
- (vi) Rental
- (vii) Lease
- (viii) Disposal

The word 'supply' is all-encompassing, subject to exceptions carved out in the relevant provisions. There are various ingredients that differentiate each of these eight forms of supply. On a careful consideration of the purposeful usage of these eight adjectives to enlist them as 'forms' of supply, it becomes clear that the legislature makes its intention known by the choice of words that are deliberate and unambiguous. However, the definition starts off with the phrase – "For the purpose of this Act", which means that wherever the term supply has been used anywhere in the Act, the meaning should always be derived from this section 7 and cannot be substituted by any other understanding of the term supply.

Barter means a "thing or commodity" given in 'in return of' another. In other words, no value is fixed- viz., barter of wrist watch with a wall clock.

Disposal means distribution, transferring to new hands, extinguishment of control over, forfeit or pass over control to another but in respect of goods that are 'unfit for sale'. Surely, discounted sale is not called disposal if the articles are still 'fit for sale'.

Transfer means to pass over, convey, relinquishment of a right, abandonment of a claim, alienate, each or any of the above acts, lawfully.

An attempt at identifying the characteristics of each of these forms of supply is provided below:

Forms of Supply	Two Capable Persons	Consideration in Money (Price)	Willingness to Contract		Delivery of Possession	Permanent alienation	Object
			Seller	Buyer			Consensus	Services
Sale	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	×
Transfer	✓	✓	×	✓	✓	✓	✓	×
Barter	✓	×	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Exchange	✓	×	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	×
License	✓	✓/×	✓	✓	×	×	✓	✓
Rental	✓	✓/×	✓	✓	✓	×	✓	×

On an understanding of the above chart, one may infer that 'supply' is not a boundless word of uncertain meaning. The inclusive part of the opening words in this clause may be understood to include everything that supply is generally understood to be PLUS the ones that are enlisted. It must be admitted that the general understanding of the word 'supply' is but an amalgam of these 8 forms of supply.

Please follow the brief discussion of the 8 forms of supply:

- Sale is a lawful, permanent and absolute transfer of ownership of property in goods for money consideration under a valid contract such that no rights are left behind with the transferor;
- Transfer is to lawfully convey property from one person to another. Here, consent of transferor and capacity of transferee need not be present although all other ingredients of a lawful contract are incumbent;

- Barter is where the consideration is in the form of goods or services (and not in money) for a sale or transfer. So in general, barter is itself not a supply but the form that consideration takes. But, when barter is called one of the forms of supply, it covers other forms of supply whose consideration is non-monetary. Therefore, barter will involve two supplies and not one. Each of these supplies would need to be examined for its respective taxability;
- Exchange is where consideration is still not in money but in form of immovable property (CIT v. Motors and General Stores Pvt Ltd AIR 1968 SC 200). Similar to barter, exchange also involves two supplies. Given that land and (completed) building is excluded from supply, exchange would be the supply whose consideration is immovable property. And the object of supply itself may be of goods or of services;
- Lease is where possession is transferred along with the right to use immovable property with a duty to care, protect and return subject to normal wear and tear along for consideration in the form of non-recurring premium only or along with recurring rent. Essence of lease being delivery of possession along with user rights is the reason lease is also used in the context of movable property (under the earlier laws). Supplier of a lease does not have possession hence not enjoy the right to use but retains right to repossess after term of lease. Lease is discussed first to contrast it with rental and license;
- License is similar to lease except that possession is not transferred but mere permission to enter and use the property (movable or immovable) is allowed along with all other ingredients of a lease. Supplier of a license retains possession of the property during the term of license without right to use (if license precludes joint use). And after expiry of the term of license or on termination of license, the licensee will be a trespasser;
- Rental is lease in respect of movable property. And since recurring payment in lease (of immovable property) is called rental, transfer of possession with user rights for recurring payment of consideration is interchangeably applied for movable and immovable property; and
- Disposal is sale or transfer but property that does not possess merchantable warranty. Articles that are not merchantable are not 'fit for sale' but trade does take place for the reason that the supplier disposes the article without ascribing any worth but the recipient accepts the article for some intrinsic worth that he is able to extract or obtain. Article that does not answer to its description cannot normally bring a valid contract into existence but due to the respective motivation of each party, such articles are lawfully disposed off. In other words, although there is no consensus as to the object of supply, the parties are consenting to enter into such a contract for the respective reasons and considerations.

Any attempt at expanding this list of 8 forms of supply, in case of goods, must be attempted with great caution. Attempting to find other forms of supply has in the normal course did not yield the desired results. However, transactions that do not amount to supply have been discovered viz., transactions in the nature of an assignment where one person steps into the shoes of another, appears to slip away from the scope of supply, as well as transactions where goods are destroyed without a transfer of any kind taking place. Perhaps, the case of destruction of goods is not included within the meaning of 'supply' considering that the input tax credit in respect of destroyed goods is a blocked credit. However, the contradiction may continue until a clarification is issued to state whether the blocked credits is in respect of goods that have been destroyed before taking credits, or is applicable even in case where goods are destroyed after the credits have been availed in respect of such goods.

Now looking at 'services', we find that the adjectives used to list the 8 forms of supply in this clause are akin to transactions involving goods and not services. Services other than licensing, rental and leasing services have not been specifically included in the meaning of the term 'supply'. However, transactions involving services are also required to be passed through the same criteria for determination of supply. In doing so, a slight adjustment in the way of looking at transactions involving services is necessary so as to substitute the object of supply from goods to services while administering the tests for determining the forms of supply involving services. In other words, the same 8 forms of supply must be applied in relation to services but with adjustment that is understood by the expression mutatis mutandis.

The law has provided an inclusive meaning to the word 'supply' which implies that the specific transactions which are listed in the said Section are only illustrative.

It is essential that such supplies should be by the supplier who is engaged in business (refer discussion under section 2(17)). However, in case of import of services for a consideration, even if such services are imported otherwise than in the course or furtherance of business, it would still be a supply. Refer discussion on inward supply in 2(67) and compare with outward supply in section 2(83).

The word 'supply' should be understood as follows:

- It should involve delivery of goods and / or services to another person; The word 'delivery' must be understood from allied laws such as Sale of Goods Act, 1930 or Indian Contract Act, 1872; delivery could be actual, physical, constructive, deemed, etc.
- Supply will be treated as 'wholly one supply' – if the goods and / or services supplied are listed in Schedule II or could be classified as a composite supply or mixed supply;

- It should involve quid-pro-quo – viz., the supply transaction requires something in return, which the person supplying will obtain, which may be in money / monetary terms / in any other form (except in cases of activities specified in Schedule I which are deemed to be supplies, even when made without consideration). What is received in return need not be always in 'money'; it can partly/wholly be in money's worth too (non-monetary in nature);
- Transfer of property in goods from the supplier to recipient is not necessary viz., lease or hiring of goods;

It is essential that all the above forms of transactions including the extended and generic meaning given to the word 'supply' should be made for a 'consideration'. The only exception for this rule of construction will be cases specified in Schedule I. Absence of consideration (as defined in Section 2(31)) will take away the character of the word 'supply' under this clause, and accordingly, the transaction will not attract tax. It is important to note supplies listed in Schedule I would nevertheless attract the wrath of tax, even when made without consideration. One has to, therefore, be very careful, while analysing the tax implications in respect of supplies listed in Schedule I.

- (b) Supply should be in the course or furtherance of business: For a transaction to qualify as 'supply', it is essential that the same is 'in the course' or 'furtherance of business'. This implies that it is only such of those supplies of goods and / or services by a business entity would be liable to tax, so long as it is 'in the course' or 'furtherance of business'. Supplies that are not in the course of business or in furtherance of business will not qualify as 'supply' for the purpose of levy of tax, except in case of import of service for consideration, where the service is treated as a supply even if it is not made in the course or furtherance of business.

The expression 'in the course of' must be construed differently from 'in the course or'. The GST Laws use the expression 'in the course or' and careful analysis is therefore, essential. The expression 'in the course' appearing in Section 7(1) (a) does not appear in Section 7(1) (b). However, one cannot lose sight of the fact that the expression 'in the course' is used selectively in respect of transactions listed in Schedule I, II or III. The import of this would mean that the meaning attributable to the expression 'in the course' would apply only in respect of such of those transaction, so listed, in the relevant Schedules.

Let us now try to understand the meaning of the phrase 'in the course'. The expression 'in the course' implies not only a period of time during which the movement or transaction is in progress but postulates a connected relationship. Therefore, the class of transactions needs to be analysed and cannot be randomly applied to the provisions of Section 7 or Section 8. So construed, the word 'or' appearing in the phrase or expression 'in the course or furtherance of business' assumes importance. When read in a proper perspective, the preposition 'or' actually bisects the entire phrase into two limbs. Therefore, the 8 forms of supply would tantamount to transaction of supply when such supplies are in the course of business, or in the furtherance of business. Therefore, the legislature has supplied huge amount of elasticity in understanding the meaning of the term 'supply'.

The term 'business' has been defined under the GST Laws to include:

- (i) a wide range of activities (being "trade, commerce, manufacture, profession, vocation, adventure, wager or any similar activity"),
- (ii) "whether or not it is for a pecuniary benefit",
- (iii) regardless of the "volume, frequency, continuity or regularity" of the activity.
- (iv) and those "in connection with or incidental or ancillary to" such activities.

A recent order of the Authority for Advance Ruling – Kerala has ruled, in a matter involving recovery of food expenses from employees for the canteen facility provided by a Company, that such recovery falls within the definition of 'outward supply' and are therefore taxable outward supplies under the GST law. In paragraph 9 of the order, the AAR-Kerala has concluded that the supply of food by the applicant (Company) to its employees would definitely come under clause (b) of Section 2(17) as a transaction incidental or ancillary to the main business and thereby the test of 'in the course or furtherance of business' is met by the applicant. – Order No. CT/531/18-C3 dated 26.03.2018.

Also, a question came up before Authority for Advance Ruling – Karnataka in the matter of Columbia Asia, whether allocation of expenses to other registered units by Corporate Office tantamount to supply of services between related or distinct persons as per Entry 2 to Schedule I to CGST Act and accordingly liable to tax. The Authority ruled that the activities performed by the employees at the Corporate Office in the course of or in relation to employment such as accounting, other administrative and IT system maintenance for the units located in the other States as well i.e. distinct persons as per Section 25(4) of the CGST Act shall be treated as supply as per Para-2 of Schedule I of the CGST Act.

Drawing similarities from the erstwhile State-level VAT laws, it follows that the said transaction should be with a commercial motive, whether or not there is a profit motive in it or its frequency / regularity. E.g.: sale of goods in an exhibition, participation in a trade fair, warranty supplies, sale of used assets / scrap sales, etc. would be activities in the course of business.

- (c) Import of service will be taxable in the hands of the recipient (importer): The word 'supply' includes import of a service, made for a consideration (as defined in Section 2(31)) and whether or not in the course or furtherance of business. This implies that import of services even for personal consumption would qualify as 'supply' and therefore, would be liable to tax. This would not be subject to the threshold limit for registration, as tax would be payable in case of import of services on reverse charge basis, requiring the importer of service to compulsorily obtain registration in terms of Section 24(iii) of the Act. Although import for personal purposes is included in the definition of supply, entry 10(a) to Notification No. 9/2017-Int (Rate), dated 28.6.2017 exempts import of services under entire Chapter 99 from payment of GST. However, the GST law has ensured that persons who are not engaged in any business activities will not be required to obtain registration and pay tax under reverse charge mechanism, and in turn, requires the supplier of services located outside India, to obtain registration for the OIDAR (online information and database access and retrieval) services only

Note: Import of services is included within the meaning of 'supply' under the CGST / SGST Acts. However, it would be liable to IGST since it would not be an intra-State supply. In fact, Section 2(21) of IGST Act has adopted the meaning of 'supply' from CGST/SGST Act.

- (d) Transactions without consideration: The law lists down, exhaustively, cases where a transaction shall be treated as a 'supply' even though there is no consideration. Such transactions are listed in Schedule I. Once an activity is deemed to be a 'supply' under Schedule I, the value of taxable supply shall be determined in terms of provisions of Section 15(4) of the Act read with Chapter IV (Determination of Value of Supply) of CGST Rules.

In this regard, it may be noted that on careful consideration of the essential ingredients of a valid contract, it cannot be disputed that a contract without consideration is not a contract at all. The reference made to 'transactions without consideration' in Schedule I does not imply that a void contract is being made valid, by GST laws. It can be argued that transactions listed in Schedule I, are not contracts at all owing to lack of consideration in terms of the Contract Laws. Even though they are not contracts, by legal fiction, flowing from Section 7(1)(c) read with Schedule I, they will be nevertheless regarded as a 'supply' and made taxable. As can be seen from the above, in all other clauses of Section 7(1), supply exists within a valid contract, but in select circumstances supply is imputed by legal fiction in the absence of a contract. It is, therefore, important not to extrapolate this legal fiction beyond the specific cases to which the law imputes this fiction.

The activities specified in Schedule I are analysed in the ensuing paragraphs:

1. Permanent transfer or disposal of business assets where input tax credit has been availed on such assets.
 - (a) Of the 8 forms of supply, the only forms that qualify as a supply, under this category are 'transfer' and 'disposal'. Other 6 forms of supply listed in Section 7(1)(a) would not stand categorised in this paragraph, given that there is (a) an element of a consideration that is intrinsic to the form, such as the case of a sale or barter or exchange, or (b) there is no business asset that is permanently transferred such as in the case of a licence or rental or lease, or any other service for that matter.

- (b) Ordinarily, there can be no permanent transfer in case of goods sent for job work. The aspect of sending goods on job work is not a supply, has been clarified vide Circular No.38/12/2018 dated 26.03.2018. However, where a registered person has purchased any moulds, tools, etc. and has sent the same to the job worker, there is a good chance that the goods are never returned, given that the time limits specified in Section 143 for good sent for job work does not apply to moulds, tools and other specified goods.
 - (c) In the above context, business asset need not always be goods, it can as well be service that could be permanently transferred which could attract the above provisions Eg: unexpired right in a business franchise permanently transferred to another person.
 - (d) While the word 'transfer' in this entry suggests that there should be another person who would receive the business assets, there is no requirement of another person in the case of 'disposal'. Therefore, if a business asset on which credit is claimed has been discarded, the transaction shall be regarded as a supply.
 - (e) Business assets procured for the purpose of serving the requirements of 'Corporate Social Responsibility', being a statutorily imposed obligation may be contended to be a procurement made in the course or furtherance of business, and an attempt can be made to avail input tax credit. The issue would however remain contentious and there are no precedents. However, there would be no escape from the levy of tax on the transaction, if the asset is permanently transferred. The treatment would be no different even in the case of a donation.
- 2. Supply of goods or services or both between related persons or between distinct persons as specified in section 25, when made in the course or furtherance of business:
- Provided that gifts not exceeding fifty thousand rupees in value in a financial year by an employer to an employee shall not be treated as supply of goods or services or both
- (a) The deemed supplies covered in this paragraph are based on a relationship between the supplier and recipient. The relationship covered under this paragraph as related persons defined by way of an explanation to Section 15 and distinct persons in terms of Section 25(4) and 25(5) of the Act.

- (b) Transactions with distinct persons are normally without consideration since they are part of the same entity located in different geographies, unless the accounting system is so sophisticated or so devised, that it treats the locations in each State as a separate / independent entity even for book-keeping purposes and effects payments in monetary terms. Let us take instances of transactions between distinct persons that are not traceable in the books of account, but requires attention from the perspective of this paragraph in the Schedule:
- (i) Stock transfers e.g., transfer of sub-assemblies, semi-finished goods or finished goods;
 - (ii) Transfer of new or used capital goods/fixed assets – including movement of laptops when employees are transferred from one location to another;
 - (iii) Bill-to ship-to transactions wherein the vendor issues the invoice to the corporate office and ships the goods to the branch office;
 - (iv) Centralised management function like Board of Directors, Finance, Accounts, HR, Legal, procurement functions and other corporate functions at one location say corporate office and the entity having multiple registrations in various States results in supply of management services by the Corporate Office to distinct persons;
 - (v) A transaction of sale of goods from one registration and providing after sales support or warranty services/replacement services by another registration of the same entity;
 - (vi) Contract awarded by a customer to an entity at the corporate office from where the centralized billing to the customer is made but the execution of the contract is carried out through various registrations of the same entity located in other / multiple States.
 - (vii) Permitting employees to make use of the office assets for personal use – say usage of motor vehicles, laptops, printers, scanners, etc.
- (c) It appears that this paragraph, has an overriding effect on the first paragraph of the Schedule relating to transfer or disposal. In other words, in case a business asset is permanently transferred to a distinct person, the transaction although out of scope of paragraph 1, would be treated as a supply in terms of this paragraph, considering that this paragraph does not impose any such condition on the transaction. The provisions would equally apply even in the case of assets procured in the pre-GST regime. Please note that a transaction that is already a 'supply' is now furnished a special treatment by the fiction in Schedule I in this paragraph and in the next unlike paragraph 1 (which was not a supply but is deemed to be one by this fiction).

- (d) The explanation appended to Section 15 of the CGST Act provides that an employer and employee will be deemed to be “related persons”. Accordingly, supplies by employer to employees would be liable to tax, if made in the course or furtherance of business, even though these supplies are made without consideration, except:
- (i) Gifts by an employer to an employee of value up to Rs 50,000 (to be understood as inclusive of taxes, as read with Rule 35 of the CGST Rules) in a financial year (whether this value needs to be pro-rated in the first year of implementation of GST / first year of commencement of business is a moot question; however, the presumption is that a part of the financial year would be construed as a whole year);
 - (ii) Cash gifts of any value, given that the ‘transaction in money’ is not a subject matter of supply as the same receives treatment as a taxable salary in the hands of the employee;
 - (iii) Services by employee to the employer in the course of or in relation to his employment – treated as neither a supply of goods nor a supply of services.
- (e) The question that arises as to what constitutes a gift is discussed in the following paras.
- (i) Gift has not been defined in the GST laws.
 - (ii) In common parlance, gift when made without consideration is voluntary in nature and is normally made occasionally.
 - (iii) It cannot be demanded as a matter of right by the employee and the employee cannot move to a court of law for obtaining a gift. However, if any gift, by whatever name called, is a right of the employee in terms of the employment contract / employee policy of the entity, then such gift shall be treated as emoluments arising out of the employment (including perquisites) and cannot be treated as a supply.
 - (iv) As a corollary, one can argue that the scope and ambit of the word ‘supply’ also includes a transaction of a barter/ exchange, in which case, the transaction may be regarded a taxable supply. In such a case, the question that would arise is as to whether a salary paid in non-monetary terms will attract GST. However, the GST Act contains a dedicated valuation rule (rule 27) which contains the modus operandi to arrive at the value of the supply the consideration of which is made either wholly or partly in non-monetary terms.
 - (v) The credit restriction on membership of a club, health and fitness centre [under Section 17(5)(b)(ii)] would not apply where the employer provides the facilities to its employees, whether or not for a consideration, given that such a supply without consideration, would also be deemed to be an outward supply under this paragraph of the Schedule.

- (vi) Where gifts are liable to tax under this Schedule, it would be fair and proper to treat such gifts as taxable outward supplies, and therefore, credit thereon may not be required to be restricted under Section 17(5) (h).
- (vii) It may also be noted that a gift need not always be in terms of goods. A service can also constitute a gift, such as gift vouchers for a beauty treatment.
- (viii) Another question which arises that is on what value will the GST liability be calculated in case the gift amount exceeds Rs.50,000/-. Although it is not expressly mentioned in the GST Act. But a reasonable construction can be drawn that GST shall be levied on the whole amount in case the gift amount exceeds Rs. 50,000/-.

3. Supply of goods—

- (a) by a principal to his agent where the agent undertakes to supply such goods on behalf of the principal; or
- (b) by an agent to his principal where the agent undertakes to receive such goods on behalf of the principal.

- (a) The definition of the terms 'agent' and 'principal' have to be understood contextually and have been reproduced below:
 - Section 2(5) of the Act – “Agent means a person, including a factor, broker, commission agent, arhatia, del credere agent, an auctioneer or any other mercantile agent, by whatever name called, who carries on the business of supply or receipt of goods or services or both on behalf of another”.
 - Section 2(88) of the Act – “Principal means a person on whose behalf an agent carries on the business of supply or receipt of goods or services or both”.
- (b) Where an Agent receives goods directly from the Principal, or if the Principal's vendor directly dispatches goods to the location of the agent, the Principal shall be required to treat the movement as an outward supply of goods by virtue of this clause. If understood in its proper perspective, when an agent receives goods on behalf of the Principal and thereafter issues the goods to the Principal, the transaction will be regarded as a supply by the Agent to the Principal.
- (c) An important question that may arise is - as to how the transaction would appear to the ultimate recipient of a supply, when effected by the Principal through the Agent, or to the supplier who effects the supply to the Principal through an Agent.

- (d) There are two recent circulars issued clarifying scope of transactions between principal and agent which clarifies the above aspects:
- (i) Circular No.57/31/2018-GST dated September 4, 2018 (in the context of scope of principal-agent relationship). The entire jurisprudence under Indian Contract Act has been brought to bear in GST by making reference to section 182 and states as:

“Thus, the key ingredient for determining relationship under GST would be whether the invoice for the further supply of goods on behalf of the principal is being issued by the agent or not. Where the invoice for further supply is being issued by the agent in his name then, any provision of goods from the principal to the agent would fall within the fold of the said paragraph. However, it may be noted that in cases where the invoice is issued by the agent to the customer in the name of the principal, such agent shall not fall within the ambit of Schedule I of the CGST Act. Similarly, where the goods being procured by the agent on behalf of the principal are invoiced in the name of the agent then further provision of the said goods by the agent to the principal would be covered by the said paragraph. In other words, the crucial point is whether or not the agent has the authority to pass or receive the title of the goods on behalf of the principal”.

There are various scenarios which are discussed to analysis and conclude the scope of this paragraph in Schedule I. One interesting aspect to highlight in this circular is that ‘whether the agent is required to issue invoice to customer in his own name or in the name of the Principal’ is a question that must be determined by the flow of transactions and not left flexible in the hands of the agent. But this circular appears to wait upon the agent to confirm who will issue the invoice. This aspect can cause great concern because a c&f agent who handles the goods – receive, store and dispatch – on the Principal may pay GST on commission and later it might be imposed on this agent to pay tax ‘as if’ this entire arrangement were a ‘trading transaction’ by fiction in para 3 of sch I. At that time, thing would have already concluded and irreversible.

Experts hold the view that ‘if agent handles the goods belonging to Principal’, this fiction applies and even though commission earned would be income for income-tax purposes, GST requires total turnover to be treated as outward supply with credit for inward supplies from Principal. If the agent does not handle the goods but merely introduces buyer and seller, this fiction would not apply. Yet another category would be cases of Customs Brokers who handle the goods not for making further supplies of such goods but to clear them with customs for import or export.

- (ii) Circular No.73/47/2018-GST dated November 5, 2018 (in the context of del-credere agent) states as:

Sl. No.	Issue	Clarification
1	Whether a DCA falls under the ambit of agent under Para 3 of Schedule I of the CGST Act?	As already clarified vide circular No. 57/31/2018-GST dated 4th September, 2018, whether or not the DCA will fall under the ambit of agent under Para 3 of Schedule I of the CGST Act depends on the following possible scenarios: ¶ In case where the invoice for supply of goods is issued by the supplier to the customer, either himself or through DCA, the DCA does not fall under the ambit of agent. ¶ In case where the invoice for supply of goods is issued by the DCA in his own name, the DCA would fall under the ambit of agent.
2	Whether the temporary short-term transaction-based loan extended by the DCA to the recipient (buyer), for which interest is charged by the DCA, is to be included in the value of goods being supplied by the supplier (principal) where DCA is not an agent under Para 3 of Schedule I of the CGST Act?	In such a scenario following activities are taking place: 1. Supply of goods from supplier (principal) to recipient; 2. Supply of agency services from DCA to the supplier or the recipient or both; 3. Supply of extension of loan services by the DCA to the recipient. It is clarified that in cases where the DCA is not an agent under Para 3 of Schedule I of the CGST Act, the temporary short-term transaction-based loan being provided by DCA to the buyer is a supply of service by the DCA to the recipient on Principal to Principal basis and is an independent supply. Therefore, the interest being charged by the DCA would not form part of the value of supply of goods supplied (to

		the buyer) by the supplier. It may be noted that vide notification No. 12/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 28th June 2017 (S. No. 27), services by way of extending deposits, loans or advances in so far as the consideration is represented by way of interest or discount (other than interest involved in credit card services) has been exempted.
3	Where DCA is an agent under Para 3 of Schedule I of the CGST Act and makes payment to the principal on behalf of the buyer and charges interest to the buyer for delayed payment along with the value of goods being supplied, whether the interest will form a part of the value of supply of goods also or not?	In such a scenario following activities are taking place: 1. Supply of goods by the supplier (principal) to the DCA; 2. Further supply of goods by the DCA to the recipient; 3. Supply of agency services by the DCA to the supplier or the recipient or both; 4. Extension of credit by the DCA to the recipient. It is clarified that in cases where the DCA is an agent under Para 3 of Schedule I of the CGST Act, the temporary short-term transaction-based credit being provided by DCA to the buyer no longer retains its character of an independent supply and is subsumed in the supply of the goods by the DCA to the recipient. It is emphasised that the activity of extension of credit by the DCA to the recipient would not be considered as a separate supply as it is in the context of the supply of goods made by the DCA to the recipient. It is further clarified that the value of the interest charged for such credit would be required to be included in the value of supply of goods by DCA to the recipient as per clause (d) of sub-section (2) of section 15 of the CGST Act.

- (iii) Statutory Update: As per Notification No. 15/2018- Central Tax (Rate) dated 26.07.2018 services supplied by Direct Selling Agents (Other than Body Corporate, Partnership or LLP) to Bank or NBFC shall be covered under Reverse Charge.

4. Import of services by a person from a related person or from any of his other establishments outside India, in the course or furtherance of business.

- (a) The expression 'import of service' has been defined to bear an innate requirement of an outflow of foreign convertible currency, and therefore, excludes any form of importation of services without consideration. Therefore, this clause is inserted to encompass such of those services, which are received from related persons / their establishments outside India. It is important for one to refer to Explanation 1 to Section 8 of the IGST Act, 2017 which deems any establishment outside India as an establishment of a distinct person. By virtue of this treatment, all services received by a person in India from its branches / establishments located outside India would be considered to be a supply, even when made without consideration.
- (b) For instance, say A Ltd is a holding company in USA and B Ltd a subsidiary in India. Many business operations are centralized in the USA such as accounting, ERP and other software, servers for the backup, legal function, etc. For the purpose of this clause, the back-end support provided by the holding company to the subsidiary company in India shall be regarded as a supply, whether or not there is a cross charge, even if the same is not recognised in the books, or any contracts, since it is categorized as an import of service by a person from a related person without consideration, in the course of business.

(e) Activities or Transactions to be treated as supply of goods or supply of services:

It is important to understand as to what constitutes a transaction of supply of goods or a transaction of supply of services. Section 7(1A) creates a fiction under the statute and specifies 'what is' and 'what is not' to be treated as a transaction of supply of goods or a transaction of supply of services. So understood, one can list out 18 classes of transactions enlisted in Schedule II of which 5 classes of transactions are listed out as supply of goods while 13 others would tantamount to supply of services. On a careful consideration of the relevant clauses, it can be noticed that all the 6 classes of transactions listed out in Article 366(29A) of the Constitution of India are covered within the scope and ambit of Schedule II. While 2 transactions, out of the 6, are treated as supply of goods, the other 4 are deemed to be supply of services.

Importantly, paragraph 6 (a) relating to works contracts (as defined in Section 2(119)) is treated as a composite supply, of services. However, Section 2(119) has 14 distinct words, all of which are required to be read in conjunction with the words “immovable property”. Contracts relating to construction of immovable property are specifically covered in paragraph 5(b) of Schedule II. Therefore, all works contracts other than those relating to construction of immovable property would amount to composite supply in terms of Section 2(30) read with Section 8.

It is important for one to understand that what is specified/listed in Schedule II not only provides clarity but also what has to be treated as supply of goods or supply of services.

Transactions listed out in schedule II DO NOT enlarge scope of supply as defined under Section 7(1) of the Act. By shifting the ‘placement’ of schedule II from clause (d) of section 7(1) to a separate section 7(1A), it is made clear that firstly, a transaction must already be determined to be ‘supply’ and then, for the limited purposes of ‘treatment’ by fiction, entries in schedule II must be referred. This amendment was introduced with retrospective effect from 1.7.2017 vide CGST Amendment Act, 2018.

It is not that Schedule II is exhaustive. But where it is listed, then those transactions will receive the ‘treatment’ as specified. Transactions involving ‘goods’ if specified in schedule II to be treated as supply of ‘services’ then, all provisions of GST law that is applicable to supply of services must be extended (without exception) to this transaction even though it involves goods.

It is important to understand the intent of the legislature. For example, Para 5(a) of Schedule II reads “renting of immovable property”. In this situation, how does one understand the taxability of the transaction where consideration is not involved? The only way to understand this lacuna is that such transactions that lack consideration would be relegated to valuation principles, but, importantly, the transaction would be treated as a supply.

Another instance to consider is para 1(c) of schedule II to CGST Act which deals with ‘hire purchase’ transactions. Although Hire Purchase Act, 1972 has been repealed in 2005. Trade understands hire-purchase versus lease (even though lease is divided into operating and finance lease). In GST law, all kinds of lease are treated the same – supply of services. Lease without possession is (legally a) license and license too is treated as a supply of services, but not hire-purchase. While para 1(b) and 5(f) deal with lease and license, para 1(c) treats hire-purchase as a supply of goods. Invoice for goods delivered under a hire-purchase will follow time and place of supply provisions applicable to goods and not to services.

This presents an anomaly which is explained in the illustration below:

- Let’s start with simple operating lease arrangement where goods, say, electricity generator whose normal sale price is Rs.1,00,000 are lying in stock at Puri, Orissa to customer-site situated in Bhilai, Chattisgarh;

- Supplier is registered in Orissa and Recipient-customer is registered in Chattisgarh;
- Supplier makes an inter-State supply and issues invoice for Rs.12,000. This is the lease rental invoice of first month of a 10-month lease including interest built into this lease rental amount;
- Goods travel from Puri to Bhilai and is clearly an inter-State movement of goods and IGST has been charged on the invoice;
- At the end of first month, Recipient-customer does NOT return the generator by transport from Bhilai back to Puri. It is retained in Bhilai to be used in the second month;
- So, the question to consider is, whether 10-month lease agreement, is one agreement with 10 instalments to pay or is it 10 monthly agreements contained in one document;
- Quick answer that comes to mind is that it is 'one agreement with 10 installments to pay'. But it is well understood that time of supply does not get deferred simply because payment is collected in installments. And if it is one agreement to supply, then it is one supply and therefore, has one time of supply which is the first day of the first month. By this reasoning, entire GST at, say, 18% on Rs.1,20,000 (Rs.12,000 x 10 installments) will be payable in first month (within due date permitted);
- On a more careful consideration of that question, it becomes clear that this lease (exceptions to be examined) is a 'month-to-month' agreement. And as all monthly agreements are identical, it is executed in a single document. Now there are 10 supplies and will have 10 times of supply and hence, GST is payable on Rs.12,000 at 18% each month;
- Now, that it is clear that lease is a month-to-month arrangement, the next question to consider is whether the lease rental invoice for the second month, will be inter-State (as the first month) or will it become an intra-State supply;
- Recollect that generator is lying with the Recipient-customer at Bhilai at the end of first month and will be continued to be used in second month without actually being return to Puri and then received back to Bhilai;
- Now, location of supplier of services is defined in IGST Act (and also in CGST Act) but location of supplier of goods is NOT defined. To examine location of supplier of goods, reference must be had to 'place of business' as defined in section 2(85) of CGST Act which provides that it will be (i) place where business is ordinarily carried on, in this case, it would be Puri or (ii) place where goods are stored, in this case, it would be Bhilai or (iii) place from where supplies are made or supplies are received or (iv) place where books are maintained or (v) place of an agent appointed to carry on business. Applying the above 5 tests, it appears (ii) would be the appropriate test and hence location of goods in second month would be place of business;
- Business of lease is not concluded every month. It has already been concluded at the start of first month. Hence, the first limb in the definition is non-operative in the present case and second limb in the definition comes into operation to decide the 'location of supplier of goods';

- As a result, location of supplier of goods will be the location of the goods for the supply by way of lease in the second month. Goods being located in Bhilai will be an intra-State supply by the Supplier who is located in Puri;
- It is for this reason, that schedule II contains para 1(b) (and even 5(f) in case of license) that the supply of goods by way of lease will be 'treated' as supply of services;
- When transaction is treated as supply of services, then location of goods becomes irrelevant and location of supplier of services (as defined in section 2(15) of IGST Act and 2(71) of CGST Act) will determine all months to be inter-State supplies; and
- Supplier situated in Puri, Orissa will NOT be required to take registration in every State where customers' sites are located in lease or license supplies.

Now, the above concept DOES NOT apply to hire-purchase because para 1(c) states that hire-purchase will be treated as supply of goods. The new question that arises here, is whether the Supplier under hire-purchase arrangements will be liable to take registration in all States where customers' sites are located.

Experts opine that in hire-purchase, it is not a month-to-month hire-purchase but a single agreement for the entire duration and each periodic payment is only an instalment, therefore there is only one supply with one time of supply and tax is payable at the rate applicable to those goods and on ENTIRE hire-purchase price. There is a pressing need for a circular on this aspect of difference between HP and Lease. FAQs dated 27.12.2018 on Banking, Financial Services, and Insurance (BFSI) released by Government only refers to the aspect that exemption from tax on interest is NOT AVAILABLE to finance lease (which can be extended to HP also) even though each periodic payment clearly contains an element of 'interest' (FAQ 47).

Reason for the divergent treatment of HP compared to Lease provided by experts is stated to be in the definition of 'hire-purchase agreement' from AS 19 (which carries the essence from definition in section 2(c) of the (now repealed) HP Act. It states that HP is a single agreement for the entire duration where (i) possession is already passed (ii) option to purchase (actually, option to reject) is granted on payment of last installment and (iii) each periodic amount paid is merely an instalment within HP-Price. Therefore, in case of HP, since GST has already been paid at the start of HP agreement, there is no requirement for HP-Supplier to be registered in every State where the HP-stock is supplied and put to use.

Care must be taken to study what is sought to be achieved by each entry in Schedule II. As an exercise one may think about para 5(b) versus para 6(a). And examine 'why' only 'goods are referred in para 7 and not 'services' also.

The activities pertaining to this clause are listed in Schedule II to the Act and discussed in the following paragraphs.

Entry in Schedule II	Analysis
1. Transfer
a. Any transfer of the title in goods is a supply of goods;	This would be a clear case of a transfer of goods. It may be noted that this paragraph covers even a plain vanilla transfer of title in goods, either by way of sale or otherwise. Accordingly, where any goods are gifted to any person, say a motor car gifted by a businessman to his successor would be a supply of goods, provided there is a transfer of "title in" such goods. In legal parlance the phrase "title in" and "title to" have different connotations.
b. Any transfer of right in goods or of undivided share in goods without the transfer of title thereof, is a supply of services;	This paragraph can be construed to be a case of a temporary transfer whereas a transfer of title in goods would be a sale simpliciter. One must pay attention to the language employed in this paragraph which speaks of transfer of right and not transfer of title. Even though the activity is categorized as a supply of service, the rate of tax applicable on the supply has been linked to the rate of tax as applicable to the supply of same goods involving transfer of title in goods. Hence, for all practical purposes to determine the rate of tax on such services, all notifications in respect of that particular goods would merit equal consideration to determine the rate of tax for the service. Refer the entries for Heading 9971 and 9973 to the Notification 11/2017 dt. 28.06.2017 prescribing the rate of tax on services, covering operating lease and financial lease transactions. Illustration: Notification 37/2017 Central Tax (Rate) dated 13.10.2017 was issued to reduce the rate of tax on motor vehicle to 65% of the tax rate as applicable with certain conditions. Considering the rate of tax for leasing of such motor vehicle to be same as that of the rate of tax as applicable on the motor vehicle, even the rate of tax on leasing services stands reduced if the conditions specified in the notification are met.

c. Any transfer of title in goods under an agreement which stipulates that property in goods shall pass at a future date upon payment of full consideration as agreed, is a supply of goods.	Any instalment sale or hire purchase transaction with a precondition that the possession is transferred on day one, but the ownership is subject to payment of full consideration/ all instalments, would get categorized as a supply of goods at the time of transfer of possession. However, where the transaction is to be valued at the open market value, due care needs to be exercised so as to determine the value of instalments as against the value of the goods being transferred. One may also note that transactions of movables that could get covered under BOOT, BOLT, BOT etc., may also get covered under this paragraph. An important point which requires due consideration is the interest component in the hire purchase agreement. In this regard it is worth to mention that vide Notification No.12/2017-CGST (Rate) dated 28.06.2017 interest is stated to be exempt. However, only interest component is exempt. Therefore, if interest is separately mentioned then GST is not payable, however, if the interest amount is not separately mentioned then GST is payable on entire amount including interest.
2. Land and Building
a. Any lease, tenancy, easement, licence to occupy land is a supply of services;	While a transfer (sale) of land is outside the scope of GST laws, the law seeks to tax certain other transfers pertaining to land, by way of this paragraph. Notification No. 4/2018 Central Tax (Rate) dated 25.01.2018 warrants attention in this regard. One issue which clearly emerges from the notification is that in case of a joint development agreement (JDA), the activity of providing the right to construct on a land belonging to the owner, is an independent supply in the hands of the owner and that supply, is treated as a supply of service in terms of this clause. It is inferred that such a service is independent of the construction service which the developer provides to the landowner. The challenge that arises would relate to the valuation for both these supplies. It is important to note that such transactions are vivisected for the

	purposes of levy of tax and have not been construed as a single demise. Please also note that this entry throws much needed light on the limits to the exclusion available in para 5 of schedule III to 'sale of land and (completed) building'. It appears only absolute sale would be excluded from GST and any arrangement inferior to or less than absolute sale, would not be excluded by schedule III. Arrangements less than absolute sale would be transactions such as lease, license, easement, etc., that create 'interest' in immovable property. Further, when only land and (completed) buildings are listed in Schedule III, all other forms of immovable property and immovable property rights would also not be excluded by Schedule III.
b. Any lease or letting out of the building including a commercial, industrial or residential complex for business or commerce, either wholly or partly, is a supply of services.	The activity of leasing or letting out of complexes for the purpose of business or commerce is covered under this clause, and not those used for the purpose of residence. It may be noted that the services by way of renting of residential dwelling for use as residence is exempt vide Notification No.12/2017 – Central tax (Rate) dated 28.06.2017. While on the subject, it is pertinent to note the distinction between a transaction of rent, lease and a transaction of "letting out". A transaction of rent is what is lawfully payable by a tenant, a transaction of lease is an alienation or conveyance for the purpose of enjoyment whether or not for a specified period. The word 'let' is to be understood as a verb meaning allow, permit, grant or hire.
3. Treatment or process
Any treatment or process which is applied to another person's goods is a supply of services.	While this transaction may not be pari materia with a works contract activity, which could get categorized under this clause it appears would be "job work" as defined under Section 2(68) of the Act. The only difference between the definition clause in terms of section 2(68) and this paragraph - is that the activity would be regarded as a job work only if carried out for a registered principal. However, regardless of

	the registration of the principal, the activity would be categorized as service by this clause. Certain clarifications have been provided vide Circular No.38/12/2018 dated 26.03.2018 on job work which would be relevant and are a useful read.
4. Transfer of business assets
a. Where goods forming part of the assets of a business are transferred or disposed of by or under the directions of the person carrying on the business so as no longer to form part of those assets, whether or not for a consideration, such transfer or disposal is a supply of goods by the person;	This clause provides for taxability of such of those transactions where business assets stand transferred. Typically, assets donated could be an example of such a transaction. One must pay attention to the fact that this clause abstains from the usage of the expression “in the course or furtherance of business” or “consideration”. But, when read along with 2(17)(d), shutting down of a business is also included within business. Also, goods ‘forming part’ of business assets when applied for non-business purposes covers all cases of ‘diversion from intended end-use in business’. Such diversion may be conscious or by a force majeure event. Ultimately, end-use of business assets requires careful examination. And these assets may be tangible or intangible. Care must also be taken when such assets are partly used for business and partly for non-business use which may not escape incidence of GST.
b. Where, by or under the direction of a person carrying on a business, goods held or used for the purposes of the business are put to any private use or are used, or made available to any person for use, for any purpose other than a purpose of the business, whether or not for a consideration, the usage or making available of such goods is a supply of	Any part of the business assets if put to use for (a) private purpose or (b) make available to another person to apply it to any non-business use, are covered under this para. Please note that this sub-para holds its own field compared to previous sub-para regarding end-use of business assets that are goods. Also, supply involving goods may be treated as supply of goods or supply of services but para 4 is attracted when ‘goods’ are used as observed by these sub-paras whichever way then may be treated under other paras in Schedule II. One must exercise caution while determining what amounts to private use / non-business use, since this will have a direct bearing on the deductions claimed

services;	under the Income tax law. In this regard, it may be noted that a service by way of transfer of a going concern, as a whole or an independent part thereof, is an exempted service in terms of Notification 12/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 28.06.2017.
c. where any person ceases to be a taxable person, any goods forming part of the assets of any business carried on by him shall be deemed to be supplied by him in the course or furtherance of his business immediately before he ceases to be a taxable person, unless— i. the business is transferred as a going concern to another person; or ii. the business is carried on by a personal representative who is deemed to be a taxable person.	The supply under this clause can be understood to be a supply of goods, although the paragraph does not explicitly specify so. Attention is drawn to Section 29(5) of the Act dealing with “Cancellation of Registration”, wherein the law provides that the person applying for cancellation of registration is required to pay an amount equivalent to the credit of input tax or the output tax payable thereon, in respect of inputs held in stock and inputs contained in semi-finished or finished goods held in stock or capital goods or plant and machinery on the day immediately preceding the date of such cancellation, whichever is higher. But, this requirement under section 29(5) applies only to regular registered person who has claimed input tax credit and holds inputs and capital goods in stock and not to a composition taxable person who has never claimed any credit to be liable to reverse. It is important to understand the subtle usage of the expression “ceases to be a taxable person”. Cessation of being a taxable person could result from either closure of business, voluntarily or otherwise, while the clause also speaks of transfer of business in the latter part. In case of cancellation of registration, a person ceases to be a registered person and not a taxable person. One can reasonably infer that in terms of this clause if a business is transferred on a ‘lock, stock and barrel’ basis as a going concern then such transactions cannot be subjected to tax; even in situations where the transfer of business takes place and a representative (acting as a taxable person) carries on such business, the question of subjecting such a transaction to tax, as a cessation of business does not arise. For this reason, there is an express exemption in entry 2 to Notification 12/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 28 Jun 2017.

5. Supply of services: The following shall be treated as supply of service, namely: —
a. renting of immovable property;	Renting wholly or partly of any immovable property is treated as a service. Therefore, unless the supply is otherwise exempted (such as renting of residential dwelling for the purpose of residence), the activity shall be regarded as a supply. Please note 'immovable property' covers a wide variety of property that includes interests in immovable properties.
b. Construction of a complex, building, civil structure or a part thereof, including a complex or building intended for sale to a buyer, wholly or partly, except where the entire consideration has been received after issuance of completion certificate, where required, by the competent authority or after its first occupation, whichever is earlier.	Paragraph 5 of Schedule III of the Act reads "sale of land and, subject to clause (b) of paragraph 5 of Schedule II, sale of building. We need to pay attention as to how this clause is to be read and understood. Let us now read the clause as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sale of land; • Sale of building; • Sale of land and sale of building; • Sale of land and building in which an undivided share in land stands transferred. It must be noted with caution that Paragraph 5 of Schedule III is 'subject to clause (b) of Paragraph 5 of Schedule II'. It is for this reason that development contracts in the real estate sector have been a subject matter of tax only if they are not saved by the exclusion in Paragraph 5 of Schedule III. Any agreement for sale of an immovable property (being in the nature of transfer of UDI in land plus building or in case of revenue share agreements which equally stipulates transfer of UDI in land plus constructed part) would be subject to tax as a service. But a plain agreement to sell land which later results in a sale deed for land simpliciter being executed will

	not be liable to GST. Some experts are of the view that the legislature intends to overcome the Constitutional Bench decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the Larsen & Toubro's case (65 VST 1) and where any part of the consideration is received, prior to obtaining completion certificate or first occupation, would be taxed while all transactions entered into thereafter, would be excluded by para 5 of schedule III as sale of land and sale of (completed) building.
c. Temporary transfer or permitting the use or enjoyment of any intellectual property right;	The words 'or' in this clause is to be understood as a disjunctive that carves out alternatives. So, this clause envisages three separate classes of transactions which could be as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Temporary transfer of any IPR; • Permitting the use of any IPR; • Permitting the use or enjoyment of any IPR. In respect of temporary transfer or usage of IPRs one needs to travel to the relevant notification to understand their import. The scheme of classification of services for the heading 9973 provides for temporary as well as permanent transfer of IPR in respect of goods. However, with effect from 15.11.2017, the rate notification for goods has also incorporated a paragraph for the permanent transfer of IPR in respect of goods and there has been no corresponding deletion of the words "or permanent" in the rate notification for services. Due care needs to be exercised by the registered person in order to determine whether supply is of goods or services.
d. Development, design, programming, customisation, adaptation, upgradation, enhancement, implementation of information technology	The dichotomy which prevailed in the erstwhile service tax and VAT regime (i.e., the question of whether software should suffer service tax or VAT or both) has been put to rest under GST. While this paragraph takes care of certain activities in respect of IT software, it must be noted that the supply

software;	of pre-developed or pre-designed software in any medium/storage (commonly bought off-the-shelf), or making available of software through the use of encryption keys, is treated as a supply of goods, classifiable under heading 4907 or 8523.
e. Agreeing to the obligation to refrain from an act, or to tolerate an act or a situation, or to do an act;	Some examples that may get covered under this clause are as under: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Non-compete agreement for a fee; • Notice period recovery ; • Additional amount agreed upon for settlement of any dispute/matter etc.; • Liquidated damages; • Forfeiture amounts actually forfeited or adjusted; • Punitive recoveries (even if computed based on quantity and price of material not delivered or piece-rate for work not completed); • Payment to induce another transaction (being itself taxable or non-taxable). Consider a situation where a supplier would supply product 'A' only if the recipient agrees to buy product 'B'- readers can think as to whether such transactions would amount to supply of goods or supply of services? Reference may be made to Maharashtra AAR decision in the case of Maharashtra State Power Generation Company Limited, ruling liquidated damages as supplies under GST. Payment made for purchase of goodwill will not come within this transaction as goodwill is goods and may be taxed under restrictive HSN or residuary Entry No. 453 of Schedule-III forming part of NN-1/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 28.6.2017. However, if transferee of a business accounts 'goods' being the premium paid over and above the cost of assets received in this acquisition, no supply under this para can be implied. As this goodwill is a term applied as art of purchase price accounting process.

f. Transfer of the right to use any goods for any purpose (whether or not for a specified period) for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration.	Transfer of 'right to use goods' is treated as a supply of service and taxed at par, with the rate of tax as applicable to the goods involved in the transaction. (Refer discussion under clause 1(a) of Schedule II).
6. Composite supply: The following composite supplies shall be treated as a supply of services, namely: —
a. Works contract as defined in clause (119) of section 2;	Our understanding of works contract under the erstwhile VAT / sales tax / service tax laws has no relevance in the GST regime. In the GST regime, only such of those contract that results in an immovable property is a 'works contract'. Every other contract which was understood to be a 'works contract' under the erstwhile laws will be treated as a composite / mixed supply under the Act. In such cases, the transaction may be treated as goods or services, based on the principles laid down in Section 8 (discussed separately in this Chapter).
b. Supply, by way of or as part of any service or in any other manner whatsoever, of goods, being food or any other article for human consumption or any drink (other than alcoholic liquor for human consumption), where such supply or service is for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration.	The Law categorises the supplies referred to in this clause as a composite supply, given that there are multiple goods and/or services which are essentially involved in such a transaction culminating into a composite supply of service. Under this clause both restaurant and outdoor catering services get covered. It may also be contended that the clause also covers other forms such as parcels, take-away, home-delivery, etc. As long as the circumstances where the goods supplied are 'for the purpose of immediate consumption', whether or not it is actually consumed, it would be treated as supply of services. For eg. bottled-water supplied to Railways will be supply of goods but transforms into supply of services when supplied by Railways to its passengers. Please note that the expression used here (and repeated in HSN 9963) are 'supply of goods as part of any service' will come within this fiction. Irrespective of the rate of tax as applicable on

	independent goods or services that are being supplied, the rate of tax as applicable to a restaurant service or outdoor catering service would apply to these goods being supplied but in the circumstance for 'immediate consumption; E.g.: Aerated drink which is served in a restaurant would be subject to tax at the rate applicable to the entire supply (restaurant service) although aerated drinks are otherwise subjected to a higher rate of tax as well as cess. By this reasoning, some experts argue that tobacco products which are sold in a restaurant and billed along with the supply of food/beverage will also be taxed at the rate as applicable to restaurant services - as a composite supply. The test that one needs to apply in the given situation is find out as to whether tobacco products are "other article for human consumption".
7. Supply of Goods: The following shall be treated as supply of goods, namely:-
Supply of goods by any unincorporated association or body of persons to a member thereof for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration	The definition of the term 'business' under Section 2(17) includes "provision by a club, association, society, or any such body (for a subscription or any other consideration) of the facilities or benefits to its members;" In order to clarify that the supply of goods by such association etc., to its members is to be treated as a supply of goods and not as a service of providing facilities, this clause has been included.

- (f) Certain supplies will be neither a supply of goods, nor a supply of services: The law lists down matters which shall not be considered as 'supply' for GST by way of Schedule III. Since these are transactions that are not regarded as 'supply' under the GST Laws, there is no requirement to report the inward/ outward supply of such activities in the returns.

Services by an employee to the employer in the course of or in relation to his employment.	The paragraph includes only services and not goods. Further, the paragraph only covers those services provided by an employee to the employer and not vice versa . Please note that 'in the

The same two persons (who have employer-employee) can constitute another relationship and those will be taxed on their own merits. It is also important to identify if the consideration that is claimed to be for 'services of employee' can be verified and validated with the amount reported for income-tax or provident fund purposes as 'salary'.
Services by any Court or Tribunal established under any law for the time being in force; The term "court" includes District Court, High Court and Supreme Court.	The word Tribunal does not cover Arbitral Tribunal. Since the Tribunal is dissolved after the adjudication proceedings are concluded.
Functions performed by MPs, MLAs, etc.; the duties performed by a person who holds any post in pursuance of the provisions of the Constitution in that capacity; the duties performed by specified persons in a body established by the Central/ State Government or local authority, not deemed as an employee;	Persons included in this clause may be Governor, Prime Minister, President etc.
Services of funeral, burial, crematorium or mortuary including transportation of the deceased.	This clause is in consonance with the exemption available in the erstwhile service tax regime.

before its first occupation, whichever is earlier);	building, also to be outside the purview of GST. Refer to discussions Schedule II paragraph 5(b) supra. Care must be taken to resist the urge to expand the words 'land and building' to cover 'all immovable properties'. Immovable property includes far more rights and interests that can be supplied without land and / or building. Also, sale is absolute sale and not lease or license. If transactions other than sale were to be excluded, then Legislature should have employed suitable words or given some indication within the law to authorize expansion of the coverage. Unlike service tax, GST very cautiously allows this relief to (a) just land and (completed) building and (b) absolute sale and not other forms of interests inferior to absolute sale. Experts are divided on the issue of whether (a) sale includes absolute sale or something less also and (b) land includes land only or rights, benefits and interests in land also.
Actionable claims, other than lottery, betting and gambling	A plain reading of this paragraph would mean that actionable claims are neither a supply of goods nor a supply of services. However, the three classes of actionable claims listed in this paragraph warrant attention. The definition of the word 'goods' includes the words 'actionable claims'. It has to therefore, be necessarily understood that the three classes of actionable claims viz. lottery, betting and gambling, if and when subjected to tax, must be taxed as goods. The irony

	is, while lottery is subject to tax as goods, betting and gambling have been subjected to tax as services under the heading 9996. This is deliberate to cover 'actionable claims' involving betting and gambling to be taxed as goods and 'other than actionable claims' towards betting and gambling to be taxed as services.
Supply of goods from a place in the non-taxable territory to another place in the non-taxable territory without such goods entering into India.	This insertion w.e.f. 1 st February 2019 puts to rest the confusion which had arisen on such transactions and keeps them outside the ambit of GST. Therefore, any transaction involving supply of goods by a person in India would not be called a supply when they are supplied from one place to another, both of which are outside India.
Supply of warehoused goods to any person before clearance for home consumption; Supply of goods by the consignee to any other person, by endorsement of documents of title to the goods, after the goods have been dispatched from the port of origin located outside India but before clearance for home consumption.	The levy of the IGST on import of goods would be levied under the Customs Act, 1962 read with the Custom Tariff Act, 1975. IGST is payable when the goods are cleared for home consumption, however high sea sales were considered akin to inter-State transactions. Even though Circular No. 33 /2017-Cus, dated 1 st August, 2017 clarified this matter that IGST on high sea sale, shall be levied and collected only at the time of importation i.e. when the import declarations are filed before the Customs authorities for the customs clearance purposes for the first time. However, the point of reversal of ITC was always contentious and various advance rulings, ruled in favour of revenue, further added on to it. Now after insertion of this entry in Schedule III, reversal of ITC would no longer be required. Debate that now rages on is whether this was always the intention and therefore this amendment ought to be read not from 1.2.2018 but from 1.7.2017 or not, so that credit reversal can be saved. Some experts believe that the retrospective effect comes from the fact that an 'explanation' has also been inserted in section 17(3) of CGST Act.

(g) To be notified: The Government has vested itself powers to notify 'activities or other transactions' which shall neither be treated as supply of goods nor a supply of services in terms of section 7(2). Such notification would be issued from time to time based on the recommendations of the GST Council.

- The Government has notified the following supplies in this regard:
Services by way of any activity in relation to a function entrusted to Panchayat under Article 243G of the Constitution

(Inserted vide Notification No. 14/2017- Central Tax (Rate) dated 28.06.2017)

- The inter-State movement of goods like movement of various modes of conveyance, between 'distinct persons' as explained in this Chapter, including trains, buses, trucks, tankers, trailers, vessels, containers & aircrafts, carrying goods or passengers or both, or for repairs and maintenance, would also not be regarded as supplies except in cases where such movement is for further supply of the same conveyance (Clarified vide Circular No. 1/1/2017-IGST dated 07.07.2017).
- The above logic would apply to the issue pertaining to inter-State movement of jigs, tools and spares, and all goods on wheels like cranes, except in cases where movement of such goods is for further supply of the same goods, and consequently no IGST would be applicable on such movements (Clarified vide Circular No. 21/21/2017-GST dated 22.11.2017).

(h) The Government is also empowered to specify what shall be treated as a supply of goods / services, as is the function of Schedule II, based on the recommendation of the GST Council, by specifying that a supply is to be treated as:

- A supply of goods and not a supply of service;
- A supply of service and not a supply of goods.

(i) In summary, supply can be understood as follows:

Section	Specified 'forms' of supply	Furtherance of Business	Existence of Consideration	'made'
7(1)(a)	✓	✓	✓	✓
7(1)(b)	✓	✓/x	✓	✓

- (j) The GST Law also treats certain transactions to be supplies by way of a deeming fiction imposed in the statute.
- (a) The law expressly uses the phrase 'deemed supply' in Section 19(3) and 19(6) in respect of inputs/capital goods sent to a job worker but are not returned within the time period of 1 year/ 3 years permitted for their return.
- (b) The bill-to-ship-to transactions wherein the supply is deemed to have been made to the person to whom the invoice is issued, imposes an intrinsic condition that such person who receives the invoice should in turn issue an invoice to the recipient unless the transaction demands a treatment otherwise. For instance, where an order is placed on a vendor based on an order received from a customer, the registered person may request the vendor to directly ship the goods to the customer. In this case, although there is a single movement of goods, there is a dual change of title to goods, and therefore, there would be 2 supplies. However, the other limb of the transaction would get independently tested for supply under Section 7.

Statutory Provisions

8. Tax liability on composite and mixed supplies

The tax liability on a composite or a mixed supply shall be determined in the following manner, namely: —

- (a) a composite supply comprising two or more supplies, one of which is a principal supply, shall be treated as a supply of such principal supply; and
- (b) a mixed supply comprising two or more supplies shall be treated as a supply of that particular supply which attracts the highest rate of tax.

Section 2(30)	Definition of Composite Supply
Section 2(90)	Definition of Principal Supply
Section 2(74)	Definition of Mixed Supply
Schedule II	Activities to be treated as a supply of goods or a supply of services

8.1. Introduction

Every supply should involve either goods, or services, or a combination of goods or a combination of services, or a combination of both. The law provides that such supplies would be classifiable for the purpose of tax treatment, either as wholly goods or wholly services, in the case of all such combinations. Schedule II of the Act provides for this classification in some of the listed instances thereunder.

8.2. Analysis

Where a supply involves multiple (more than one) goods or services, or a combination of goods and services, the treatment of such supplies would be as follows:

(a) If it involves more than one, goods and/ or services which are naturally bundled together and supplied in conjunction with each other in the ordinary course of business and one such supply would be a principal supply:

- (i) These are referred to as composite supply of goods and/ or services. It shall be deemed to be a supply of those goods or services, which constitutes the principal supply therein. Only where all of the conditions specified for a supply of a combination of goods and/ or services to be treated as a composite supply are satisfied, the supply can be regarded as a composite supply. The conditions are as follows:
 - 1. The supply must be made by a taxable person: This condition presumes that composite supplies can only be effected by a taxable person.
 - 2. The supply must comprise two or more taxable supplies: The law merely specifies that the supplies included within a composite supply must contain two or more taxable supplies. A question may then arise as to what would be the treatment in case of a supply that fulfils all the conditions, but involves an exempt supply – say, purchase of fresh vegetables from a store which offers home delivery for an added charge. Fresh vegetables are exempt from tax, whereas the service of home delivery would attract tax. No clarification has been issued in this regard. However, on a plain reading of the provision, it appears that this condition would not be satisfied where the composite supply involves an exempt supply. One could argue that taxable supply includes exempt by virtue of the definition of taxable supply under Section 2(108).
 - 3. The goods and/ or services involved in the supply must be naturally bundled: The concept of natural bundling needs to be examined on a case to case basis. What is naturally bundled in one set-up may not be regarded as naturally bundled in another situation. For instance, stay with breakfast is naturally bundled in the hotel industry, while the supply of lunch and dinner, even if they form part of the same invoice, may not be considered as naturally bundled supplies along with room rent.

4. They must be supplied in conjunction with each other in the ordinary course of business: Where certain supplies could be naturally bundled, it is essential that they are so supplied in the ordinary course of business of the taxable person. For instance, it is possible to consider the supply of a water purifier along with the first-time installation service as a naturally bundled supply. However, if a supplier of water purifiers does not ordinarily provide the installation service, and arranges for a person to provide the installation service in the case of an important business customer, the supply would not satisfy the said condition.
5. Only one of the supplies involved must qualify as the principal supply: In every composite supply, there must be only one principal supply. Where a conflict between the various components of the supply, as to which of those qualify as the principal supply, cannot be resolved and results in multiple predominant supplies, the supply cannot be regarded as a composite supply.
 - (a) A principal supply is defined u/s 2(90) to mean the predominant element of a composite supply to which any other supply forming part of that composite supply is ancillary.
 - (b) Therefore, mere identification of the predominant element would not suffice, and it must be ascertained that all other supplies composed in the composite supply are ancillary to that predominant element of the supply.
 - (c) Consider the case of a supply of dining table with chairs. There would normally be no issue in this regard if both the components are made of the same material. However, if the dining table is made of granite, while the chairs are made of superior quality wood, there would be a conflict. Normally, the dining table would be regarded as the principal supply to which the supply of chairs is ancillary. However, in this case, it may not be possible to determine which of the two make the principal supply.

Where any of the aforesaid conditions are not satisfied, the transaction cannot be treated as a composite supply.
- (ii) The matters such as time of supply, invoicing, place of supply, value of supply, rate of tax applicable to the supply, etc. shall all be determined in respect of the principal supply alone, since the entire supply shall be deemed to be a supply of the principal supply alone.
- (iii) Some Illustrations and cases of composite supplies have been discussed in the following paragraphs:
 - ✓ Illustration (provided in Section 2(27)): Where goods are packed, and transported with insurance, the supply of goods, packing materials, transport and insurance is a composite supply and supply of goods is the principal supply. This implies that the supply will be taxed wholly as supply of goods.

- ✓ Para 5(3) of Circular No.32/06/2018-GST dated 12.02.2018 clarifies that “food supplied to the in-patients as advised by the doctor/ nutritionists is a part of composite supply of health care and not separately taxable”. It also goes on to clarify further that supplies of food by hospital to patients (not admitted) or their attendants or visitors are taxable.
- ✓ Circular No.11/11/2017-GST dated 20.10.2017 has provided clarification on treatment of printing contracts. It is clarified that:
 - ❖ In the case of printing of books, pamphlets, brochures, annual reports, and the like, where only content is supplied by the publisher or the person who owns the usage rights to the intangible inputs while the physical inputs including paper used for printing belong to the printer, supply of printing of the content supplied by the recipient of supply is the principal supply.
 - ❖ In case of supply of printed envelopes, letter cards, printed boxes, tissues, napkins, wall paper etc. falling under Chapter 48 or 49, printed with design, logo etc. supplied by the recipient of goods but made using physical inputs including paper belonging to the printer, the predominant supply is that of goods and the supply of printing of the content supplied by the recipient of supply is ancillary to the principal supply of goods and therefore such supplies would constitute supply of goods falling under respective headings of Chapter 48 or 49 of the Customs Tariff.
- ✓ Circular No. 34/8/2018-GST dated 01.03.2018 provides a clarification on some matters including the following:
 - ❖ The activity of bus body building is a composite supply. As regards which of the components is the principal supply, the Circular directs that it be determined on the basis of facts and circumstances of each case.
- ✓ Re-treading of tyres– In re-treading of tyres, which is a composite supply, the pre-dominant element is the process of re-treading which is a supply of service, and the rubber used for re-treading is an ancillary supply. The Circular also specifies that “Value may be one of the guiding factors in this determination, but not the sole factor. The primary question that should be asked is what the essential nature of the composite supply is and which element of the supply imparts that essential nature to the composite supply”.
- ✓ Other examples: If a contract is entered for (i) supply of certain goods and erection and installation of the same thereto or (ii) supply of certain goods along with installation and warranty thereto, it is important to note that these are naturally bundled and therefore would qualify as ‘composite supply’. Accordingly, it would qualify as supply of the goods therein, which is essentially the principal supply in the contract. Thus, the value attributable to erection and installation or installation and warranty thereto will also be taxable as if they are supply of the goods therein.

- ✓ ADVANCE RULING ON COMPOSITE SUPPLY:- AAR, West Bengal vs. Switching Avo Electro Power Ltd.-“ Whether if a combination of goods that does not amount to a composite supply is being offered at a single price, such supplies are to be treated as mixed supplies - Held, yes - Whether where UPS and battery are supplied as separate goods, but a single price is charged for combination of goods supplied as single contract, supply of UPS and battery is to be considered as mixed supply within meaning of section 2(74), as they are supplied under a single contract at a combined single price - Held, yes”

(b) If it involves supply of more than one goods and/ or services which are not naturally bundled together but sold for a single price:

(i) These are referred to as mixed supply of goods and/ or services. It shall be deemed to be a supply of that goods or services therein, which are liable to tax at the highest rate of GST. The characteristics of a mixed supply is as follows:

1. It involves two or more individual supplies: It may be noted that the term used in the case of mixed supply is “individual supplies” as against “taxable supplies”. Therefore, a mixed supply can include both taxable and non-taxable supplies.
2. It is made by a taxable person;
3. The supply is made for a single price: The fact that a composite supply does not include this condition merits consideration. Where a supply of two or more goods or services is made for different prices, the supplies cannot be regarded as mixed supplies.
4. The supply does not constitute a composite supply: The expression “constitute” has a large ambit to include cases where the supply results in a composite supply, as well as a case where some of the components together make a composite supply, whereas the bundle together would make a mixed supply. While the condition as such is not explicit, given that there is no provision for treatment of a bundled supply where only some components together qualify as a composite supply, it may be safe to interpret that a mixed supply is one which is not regarded as a composite supply.

(ii) The matters such as time of supply, invoicing, place of supply, value of supply, rate of tax applicable to the supply, etc. shall all be determined in respect of that supply which attracts the highest rate of tax. However, the law remains silent on what is the treatment required to be undertaken where more than one component is subjected to the highest rate of tax. For instance, consider a case where a commercial complex is let out for a consideration of monthly rentals, and the owner of the complex also supplies parking lots to those tenants who opt for the facility.

While both the supplies attract tax @ 18%, the law does not prescribe for treatment of the transaction as that of only one of the two supplies.

(iii) Some Illustrations and cases of mixed supplies have been discussed in the following paragraphs:

- ✓ Illustration (provided in Section 2(66)): A supply of a package consisting of canned foods, sweets, chocolates, cakes, dry fruits, aerated drink and fruit juices when supplied for a single price is a mixed supply. Each of these items can be supplied separately and is not dependent on any other. It shall not be a mixed supply if these items are supplied separately. This implies that the supply will be taxed wholly as supply of those goods which are liable to the highest rate of GST.
- ✓ Other examples: If a tooth paste (say for instance it is liable to GST at 12%) is bundled along with a tooth brush (say for instance it is liable to GST at 18%) and is sold as a single unit for a single price, it would be reckoned as a mixed supply. This would, therefore, be liable to GST at 18% (higher of 12% or 18% applicable to each of the goods therein).

(c) While there are no infallible tests for such determination, the following guiding principles could be adopted to determine whether a supply would be a composite supply or a mixed supply. However, every supply should be independently analysed.

Description	Composite Supply	Mixed Supply
Naturally bundled	Yes	No
Each supply available for supply individually	No	Yes / No
One is predominant supply for recipient	Yes	Yes / No

9.1. Introduction

Article 265 of the Constitution of India mandates that no tax shall be levied or collected except by the authority of law. The charging section is a must in any taxing statute for levy and collection of tax. Before imposing any tax, it must be shown that the transaction falls within the ambit of the taxable event and that the person on whom the tax is so imposed also gets covered within the scope and ambit of the charging Section by clear words used in the Section. No one can be taxed by implication. The scope of the taxable event being 'supply' has been discussed in the earlier part of this Chapter. This Section will provide an insight into the chargeability of tax on a supply. Section 9 is the charging provision of the CGST Act. It provides the maximum rate of tax that can be levied on supplies leviable to tax under this law, the manner of collection of tax and the person responsible for paying such tax.

It is interesting to note that the 4 pillars of taxation that together constitute the cornerstone for levy are couched in Section 9(1). The taxable event, tax rate, collection or levy, and the person to pay are so worded that there is no escape. It appears that the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Govind Saran Ganga Saran's Case has been followed.

9.2. Analysis

The IGST Law provides the basis for determination of a supply as an intra-State supply or an inter-State supply – simply put, if the location of the supplier and the place of supply are within the same State, the transaction will be an intra-State supply, barring the case of supplies made by / to SEZ, and all other supplies will be regarded as inter-State supplies. Please refer to the discussion in the IGST Chapters for a holistic understanding of 'Levy' as a concept under the GST law.

- (i) Taxable supply: Every taxable supply will be subjected to GST. A taxable supply refers to any supply of goods or services or both, which qualifies as a supply in terms of Section 7. The exception to this rule would be all supplies that the levy Section forgoes to tax, as also all those supplies that have been notified to be nil-rated or exempted from tax. The provisions imposing GST are phrased in such a manner so as to exclude the supply of alcoholic liquor for human consumption from the scope of levy itself. However, the law specifies certain other goods whereby the levy of GST has been deferred until such time the goods are notified in this regard to be taxable supplies (by the Government, based on the recommendation of the GST Council):

- (1) petroleum crude
- (2) high speed diesel
- (3) motor spirit (commonly known as petrol)
- (4) natural gas and
- (5) aviation turbine fuel

- (ii) Tax payable: The nature of tax would depend upon the nature of supply, viz., inter-State supplies will be liable to IGST and intra-State supplies will be liable to CGST and SGST/ UTGST (i.e., UTGST in case intra-State supplies within a particular Union Territory). Every intra-State supply will attract CGST as well as SGST, as follows:
- (1) Imposition of CGST by the Union Government of India
 - (2) Imposition of SGST by the respective State Government or (in case of UTGST, by the Central Government through the appointed Administrator)
- (iii) Tax shall be payable by a 'taxable person': The tax shall be payable by a 'taxable person' i.e., a person who is liable to obtain registration, or a person who has obtained registration. Please note that there can be multiple taxable persons for a single supply. It comprises separate establishments of persons registered or liable to be registered under sections 22 or section 24 of the CGST Act. Please refer to the discussion under Section 25 for a thorough understanding of this concept. Under the GST law, the person liable to pay the tax levied on a supply under the Statute would be one of the following:
- (1) The supplier, in terms of Section 9(1)–Referred to as forward charge. This is ordinarily applicable in case of all supplies unless the supplies qualify under the other two categories, i.e., this would be the residual category of supply wherein the supplier would be liable to pay tax. (In this regard, it must be noted that the term 'supplier' is attributed to an establishment, and not to the PAN as a whole. Therefore, if the supply is effected from an establishment in Karnataka, the establishment of the same entity located in say Delhi, cannot discharge the liabilities);
 - (2) The recipient – Referred to as tax under reverse charge mechanism. In such a case, all the provisions of the Act as are applicable to the supplier in a normal case, would apply to the recipient of supply (being a taxable person, and not the PAN as explained above). A supply would be subjected to tax in the hands of the recipient only in the following cases:
 1. Notified supplies under Section 9(3): The supply of goods or services is notified as a supply liable to tax in the hands of the recipient vide Notification No. 4/2017-Central Tax (Rate) in case of goods and Notification No. 13/ 2017-Central Tax (Rate) in case of services, as amended from time to time. Please note that the supplier discharging this liability would not render the liability discharged, since the law imposes the obligation on the recipient. The recipient of supply would nevertheless be liable to discharge the taxes, and the relief available to the supplier would be only by way of an application for refund;
 2. Supplies received from unregistered persons under Section 9(4): The supply is an inward supply of goods and/ or services effected by a registered person from an unregistered supplier. In this regard, it may be noted that the levy under this clause applies (as amended by CGST Amendment Act) only in respect of (a) 'class of registered persons' and (b) 'categories of goods or services', by a notification. W.e.f. 1st April, 2019, the Central Government vide Notification No. 07/2019-Central Tax (Rate) dated 29.3.2019, notified the following categories of goods or services or both, in respect of which registered person shall pay tax on reverse charge basis as recipient of such goods or services or both:-

- No partial reverse charge will be applicable under GST. 100% tax will be paid by the recipient if reverse charge mechanism applies.
- All taxpayers required to pay tax under reverse charge have to mandatorily obtain registration and the threshold exemption is not applicable on them.
- Payment of taxes under Reverse Charge cannot be made with utilisation of Input Tax Credit and has to be made in Cash.
- The recipient can take the credit of tax paid on inward supplies liable to reverse charge once the recipient makes payment of tax in cash.

RCM on Motor Vehicles-clarification

The Board made clarification in respect to Reverse Charge Mechanism (RCM) on renting of motor vehicles vide Circular No. 130/2019-GST, dated 31-12-2019, as under-

1. Suppliers of service by way of renting of any motor vehicle designed to carry passengers where the cost of fuel is included in the consideration charged from the service recipient have an option to pay GST either at 5% with limited ITC (of input services in the same line of business) or 12% with full ITC.
2. The GST Council in its 37th meeting dated 20.09.2019 examined the request to place the supply of renting of motor vehicles under RCM and recommended that the said supply when provided by suppliers paying GST @ 5% to corporate entities may be placed under RCM. RCM was not recommended for suppliers paying GST

@12% with full ITC, so that they may have the option to continue to avail ITC. RCM otherwise would have blocked the ITC chain for them.

Accordingly, the following entry was inserted in the RCM notification with effect from 1.10.19:

Sl. No.	Category of Supply of Services	Supplier of Service	Recipient of Service
(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)
15	Services provided by way of renting of a motor vehicle provided to a body corporate.	Any person other than a body corporate, paying central tax at the rate of 2.5% on renting of motor vehicles with input tax credit only of input service in the same line of business	Any body corporate located in the taxable territory.

3. Post issuance of the notification, references has been received stating that when a service is covered by RCM, GST would be paid by the service recipient and not by the supplier. Therefore, the wording of the notification that “any person other than a body corporate, paying central tax at the rate of 2.5%” is not free from doubt and needs amendment/ clarification from the perspective of drafting.
4. The matter has been examined. When any service is placed under RCM, the supplier shall not charge any tax from the service recipient as this is the settled procedure in law under RCM. There are only two rates applicable on the service of renting of vehicles, 5% with limited ITC and 12% with full ITC. The only interpretation of the notification entry in question which is not absurd would be that—
 - (i) where the supplier of the service charges GST @ 12% from the service recipient, the service recipient shall not be liable to pay GST under RCM; and,
 - (ii) where the supplier of the service doesn't charge GST @ 12% from the service recipient, the service recipient shall be liable to pay GST under RCM.
5. Though a supplier providing the service to a body corporate under RCM may still be paying GST @ 5% on the services supplied to other non-body corporate clients, to bring in greater clarity, serial No. 15 of the Notification No. 13/2017-CT (R) dated 28.6.17 has been amended vide Notification No. 29/2019-CT (R) dated 31.12.19 to state that RCM shall be applicable on the service by way of renting of any motor vehicle designed to carry passengers where the cost of fuel is included in the consideration charged from the service recipient only if the supplier fulfils all the following conditions:—

- (a) is other than a body-corporate;
 - (b) does not issue an invoice charging GST @12% from the service recipient; and
 - (c) supplies the service to a body corporate.
6. It may be noted that the present amendment of the notification is merely clarificatory in nature and therefore for the period 01.10.2019 to 31.12.2019 also, clarification given at para 5 above shall apply, as any other interpretation shall render the RCM notification for the said service unworkable for that period.
- (iv) Gujarat High Court in Mohit Minerals-Ocean freight is not subject to RCM in case CIF transaction

In the case of Mohit Minerals (P) Ltd. v. UOI 2020-VIL-36-GUJ (dated 23-01-2020) The Hon'ble High Court has held that no IGST is leviable on the ocean freight for the services provided by a person located in a non-taxable territory by way of transportation of goods by a vessel from a place outside India up to the customs station of clearance in India. Entry 9(ii) of NN-8/2017-IT(R) and Entry 10 of NN-10/2017-IT(R) declared as ultra vires the IGST Act due to lack of legislative competency and accordingly held to be unconstitutional. Under Section 5(3) of the IGST Act, the person liable to pay tax can only be "the recipient" of supply. The term "recipient" has to be read in the sense in which it has been defined in the CGST Act. Importer cannot be said to be the recipient of the ocean freight service in the instant case since the importer has neither availed the service of transportation of goods nor he is liable to pay consideration for such service. The foreign shipping line is engaged by foreign exporter. The importer cannot be made liable to pay tax on a mere premise that the importer is directly or indirectly recipient of service.

The Court observed that it is neither an inter-State supply under Section 7 nor an intra-State supply under Section 8 of the IGST Act as follows:

For Section 8, both the location of the supplier and place of supply should be in India. The same is not applicable since location of foreign shipping line is outside India. Section 7(1) & Section 7(2) are dealing with goods and not relevant. For Section 7(3), both the location of the supplier and place of supply should be in India. The same is not applicable since location of foreign shipping line is outside India. Section 7(4) i.e. import of service, is not applicable since the location of recipient of service, i.e., the foreign exporter being outside India. Section 7(5) (a) is not applicable since location of foreign shipping line is outside India. Section 7(5)(b) pertaining to SEZ is also not applicable.

A supply where both provider and recipient are outside India can be made leviable to tax only under Section 7(5)(c) i.e. residuary clause, provided that "supply is in taxable territory". The same cannot be equated with "place of supply". Supply in the taxable territory shall mean a supply, all the aspects or majority of aspects, of which takes place in taxable territory. Thus, e.g., the provision may cover cases such as a foreign tour operator conducting a tour in India for a foreign tourist. Mere fact that transportation of goods terminates in India, will not make such supply of transportation of goods as taking place in India.

Thus, no tax can be levied and collected from importer/ petitioner.

In the instant case, the freight has already suffered IGST as a part of value of goods imported. Dual levy of IGST cannot be imposed treating it as supply of service. Double taxation, through delegated legislation, where statute does not provide, is not permissible.

Issues which may emerge post this decision:

- Whether refund is available in respect of Service Tax or GST already paid under RCM where credit was not eligible?
 - Whether ongoing demands by department for service tax or GST for non-payment of tax on ocean freight under RCM are liable to be dropped?
- (v) The e-commerce operator, in terms of Section 9(5): The Government is empowered to notify categories of services wherein the person responsible for payment of taxes would neither be the supplier nor the recipient of supply, but the e-commerce operator through which the supply is affected. It is important to note that, in case of such supplies, the e-commerce operator is neither the supplier nor does it receive the services. The e-commerce operator is merely the person who owns, operates or manages digital or electronic facility or platform for e-commerce purposes. Under the erstwhile service tax law, the e-commerce operator in such an arrangement was referred to as an 'aggregator'.
1. The Government has notified certain services in this regard vide Notification No. 17/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 28.6.2017 as amended from time to time, services by way of transportation of passengers by a radio-taxi, motor cab, maxi cab and motor cycle, etc.; accommodation in hotels, inns, guest houses, clubs, campsites; services by way of housekeeping, such as plumbing, carpeting etc.
 2. Where the e-commerce does not have a physical presence in the taxable territory, any person representing him in the taxable territory would be liable to pay the taxes. If no such representative exists, the e-commerce operator is liable to appoint such a person in order to discharge this obligation.
 3. All other provisions of the Act will apply to the e-commerce operator or his representative (as the case may be) in respect of such services, as if he is the supplier liable to pay tax on the services.
 4. In this regard it may be noted that liability to pay tax on the supply by the e-commerce operator is not another provision imposing tax on the reverse charge basis. Reference to the definition of reverse charge in section 2(98) makes it clear that reverse charge is limited to tax payable under section 9(3) and 9(4). It is very important to note that the language employed in Section 9(5) makes it clear that the liability to pay tax on the supply is placed on the e-commerce operator, “as if” the e-commerce operator were the “supplier liable to tax”. The marked departure of the language from that used in case of the reverse charge provisions suggests that:

- (a) The tax that is applicable on the supply is to be paid by the e-commerce operator as if, such e-commerce operator was the supplier liable to tax. The provisions require the e-commerce operator to step into the shoes of the actual supplier, for the limited purpose of discharging his liability, and the supply by the e-commerce operator to the actual supplier (facilitation services, commission services or by any service inter se) will be taxable separately, in the hands of the e-commerce operator as a supplier of service to the actual supplier.
- (b) The actual supplier is no longer liable to pay any tax. This means that the suppliers will not be the person liable to pay tax on such services effected through an e-commerce operator, even if they have obtained registration. This is clear not only from the exclusion from compulsory registration under section 24(ix) (to such actual suppliers where the e-commerce operator will pay tax under section 9(5)) but also allowed to enjoy exclusion from registration under section 23(1) (a) when entire turnover is taxed under 9(5) in the hands of e-commerce operator. Also refer Notification 17/2017-Central Tax (Rate), dated 28.6.2017 where exception is made for ‘requirement to otherwise register under section 22” to such actual supplies attracting section 9(5).

Readers may refer to decision of Karnataka AAR in the matter of Opta Cabs Private Limited as below:

Question raised: Whether the money paid by the customer to the driver of the cab for the services of the trip is liable to GST and whether the applicant company is liable to pay GST on this amount?

Ruling: The services of transportation of passengers is supplied to the consumers through the applicant and it shall be deemed that the applicant would be deemed to be the supplier liable to pay tax in relation to the supply of such service by the taxi operator - in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (5) of section 9 of the Central Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017 r/w Notification No. 17/2017- Central Tax (Rate), the applicant is liable to tax on the amounts billed by him on behalf of the taxi operators for the service provided in the nature of transportation of passengers through it.

- (iv) Rate of tax: The rate of tax will be applicable as specified in the Notification No. 1/2017- Central Tax (Rate) for goods and Notification No. 11/2017- Central Tax (Rate) for services issued in this regard and read with other Rate Notifications which may be issued to partially exempt any other goods or services from payment of tax. The rates of tax contained in these notifications cannot exceed 20% under each limb (i.e., 20% under CGST and 20% under SGST), as amended from time to time. These rates would be notified based on the recommendation of the GST Council. In order to determine the applicable rate of tax, the following approach is to be adopted:

- (i) Identify whether the supply is an intra-State supply;
 - (ii) Identify whether the supply is a plain supply/ composite supply/ mixed supply and adopt the treatment accordingly;
 - (iii) Identify HSN of the goods or services and applicable rate of tax as per rate notification;
 - (iv) Identify whether the HSN applies to more than one description-line. If yes, analyse which of the description is most specific to the supply in question;
 - (v) Once classification is ascertained, identify whether such goods or services qualify for any exemption (partially or wholly) from payment of tax.
- (v) Taxable value: The rate of tax so notified will apply on the value of supply as determined under Section 15. The transaction value would be accepted subject to inclusions/ exclusions specified in the said Section, where the price is the sole consideration for the supply and the supplier and recipient are not related persons. In all other cases, the value of supply will be that value which is determined in terms of the rules (i.e., Chapter IV of the CGST Rules, 2017).
- (vi) Classification of Goods or Services: In order to apply a particular rate of tax, a taxable person needs to determine the classification of his supply as to whether supply constitutes a supply of goods or services. Once the same is determined, further classification in terms of HSN of goods and services has to be made by the taxpayer so as to arrive at the rate of tax at which he is required to pay tax. At the outset, it is important to note that HSN for goods are contained in Chapters from 1 to 98 and SAC/ HSN for Services are contained in Chapter 99. Since Classification of Goods is older and is based on knowledge gathered from precedents on HSN classification, we shall discuss the steps for classification of goods. The steps for determination of proper classification is as under:
- (vii) It is important to note that classification of each product supplied has to be made separately if supply of such product is independent. This shall include all by-products, scraps etc.
 - (viii) Identify the description and nature of the goods being supplied. One must confirm that the product is also similarly or more specifically covered in the Customs Tariff and HSN 2017. The Section Notes and Chapter Notes to the applicable Schedule to be read as it forms an integral part of the Tariff for the purpose of classification.
 - (ix) If there is any ambiguity, first reference shall be made to the Rules for interpretation of the Customs Tariff.

- (x) As per the Rules, first step to be applied is to find the trade understanding of the terms used in the Schedule, if the meaning or description of goods is not clear.
- (xi) If the trade understanding is not available, the next step is to refer to the technical or scientific meaning of the term. If the tariff headings have technical or scientific meanings, then that has to be ascertained first before the test of trade understanding.
- (xii) If none of the above are available reference may be had to the dictionary meaning or ISI specifications. Evidence may be gathered on end use or predominant use.
- (xiii) In case of the unfinished or incomplete goods, if the unfinished product bears the essential characteristics of the finished product, its classification shall be same as that of finished product.
- (xiv) If the classification is not ascertained as per above point, one has to look for the nature of product which is more specific.
- (xv) If the classification is still not determinable, one has to look for the ingredient which gives the article its essential characteristics.
- (xvi) It is important to note that in following cases of supply of services, same rate of central tax as on supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods would be applicable:

Sl. No.	Chapter, Section or Heading	Description of Service	Rate (per cent.) of Central Tax	Rate (per cent.) of Integrated Tax
15	Heading 9971 (Financial and related services)	(ii) Transfer of the right to use any goods for any purpose (whether or not for a specified period) for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration.	Same rate of central tax as on supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods	Same rate of Integrated tax as on supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods
		(iii) Any transfer of right in goods or of undivided share in goods without the transfer of title thereof.	Same rate of Central tax as on supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods	Same rate of Integrated tax as on supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods

17	Heading 9973 (Leasing or rental services, with or without operator)	(iii) Transfer of the right to use any goods for any purpose (whether or not for a specified period) for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration.	Same rate of Central tax as on supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods	Same rate of Integrated tax as on supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods
		(iv) Any transfer of right in goods or of undivided share in goods without the transfer of title thereof.	Same rate of Central tax as on supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods	Same rate of Integrated tax as on supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods
		(vi) Leasing or rental services, with or without operator, other than (i), (ii), (iii), (iv) and (v) above.	Same rate of Central tax as applicable on supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods	Same rate of Integrated tax as applicable on supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods

- (xvii) The only exception to the above table is leasing of motor vehicle which was purchased by the Lessor prior to July 1, 2017, leased before July 1, 2017 and no ITC of central excise, VAT or any other taxes on such motor vehicle was availed by him. If all these conditions are fulfilled then the lessor is liable to pay GST only on 65% of the GST applicable on such motor vehicle. – Refer Notification No.37/2017- Central Tax (Rate) dated October 13, 2017.

9.3 Comparative review

Under the erstwhile tax laws, Central Excise is levied on 'manufacture of goods', VAT / CST is levied on 'sale of goods' and service tax is charged on 'service provided or agreed to be provided'. Unlike such different incidences, under the GST law, it is 'supply' which is the taxable event. Under the erstwhile law, e.g.: while stock transfers are liable to Central Excise (if they are removed from the factory), it was not be liable to VAT / CST on production of necessary forms – however, under the GST law, it is taxable as a 'supply' if such supplies are between distinct persons under Section 25(4) or 25(5). Further, free supplies were liable to excise duty, while under the VAT laws, free supplies required reversal of input tax credit; under the GST law, we have to be careful to analyse whether there is any non-monetary consideration (inducement) present in the supplies (free-marketed as), if yes then we have to get into valuation of such free supplies to arrive at a transaction value. If not, then the treatment would be similar to the erstwhile VAT laws, where the supplies are made without any consideration (monetary/ otherwise). However, where the free supplies are made between distinct persons or between related persons then such supplies may be regarded as supply under Schedule I, paragraph 2.

In the erstwhile law, there are multiple transactions which apparently qualify as both 'sale of goods' as well as 'provision of services'. E.g.: license of software, providing a right to use a brand name, etc. To avoid this situation, GST law clarifies as to whether a transaction would qualify as a 'supply of goods' or as 'supply of services' by introducing a deeming fiction. A transaction of supply under composite contracts would either qualify as supply of goods or as services, under the GST law (Schedule II of the Act, concept of composite supply and mixed supply).

The payment of VAT in the hands of the purchaser (registered dealer) on purchase of goods from an unregistered dealer and the circumstances where the Service Tax is payable under the reverse charge mechanism in respect of say, advocate services, import of services, sponsorship services etc. are comparable to the 'reverse charge mechanism' prescribed herein. However, the concept of partial reverse charge is not continuing in the GST regime, viz., every supply will be liable either to forward charge or full reverse charge. Further, under erstwhile law, the concept of reverse charge only exists in relation to services. The GST law, however, permits the supply of goods also to be subjected to reverse charge.

9.4 Issues and concerns

1. The activity of import of service is subjected to tax, whether or not such import is in the course or furtherance of business. While the relaxation from obtaining registration is provided to a 'non-taxable online recipient' who imports OIDAR services, relaxation to other persons who import services for personal use flows from exemption in entry 10(a) to notification 9/2017-Int (Rate) dated 28.6.2017.
2. Although, the word 'business' is clearly defined u/s 2(17), the phrase 'in the course or furtherance of business' has not been defined in the Act. The meaning that can be derived from this phrase is so wide that it can include every activity undertaken by a business concern, including activities in the course of employment, since employment is a subset of the activities undertaken in the course of business.
3. A plain reading of the meaning of the terms 'composite supply' and 'mixed supply' suggests that the concept pre-supposes a condition that they are effected by taxable persons. Say in case of a supply effected by a non-taxable person to a registered person attracting tax under reverse charge, the supply would not be regarded as a composite supply even where all the conditions are satisfied, and cannot be regarded as a mixed supply either, for the same reason. Such an understanding would defeat the very purpose of the legislative intent. Therefore, in case of reverse charge transactions, the supply must be understood to have been made by the registered person who is the recipient of supply, i.e., even supplies effected by unregistered persons may be qualified to be termed 'composite supply' or mixed supply', subject to the normal conditions which would otherwise apply.

4. While the concept of 'mixed supplies' requires that the goods and/ or services supplied in the mixed supply must be supplied for a single price, there is no such requirement in the case of composite supplies. Therefore, a person effecting a mixed supply of goods would certainly have an option to strategically alter the bundle of supplies so that all the goods/ services included in the mixed supply would not all be subjected to the highest rate of tax applicable on the said supplies.

On the other hand, a supplier who effects a composite supply wishes to charge for the supply of two or more goods or services separately, which otherwise constitute a composite supply, a question may arise as to whether the rate of tax applicable on all the supplies would continue to be the rate applicable to the principal supply. Say, a supplier of air conditioners (taxable @ 28%) who always effects the supply along with the installation service, now chooses to split the cost of the service in order to tax such service portion at the rate of 18%. Such a split-up may be questioned, given that there is no escape from treatment as a composite supply merely because the values are ascertained separately. Generally, transactions that are intentionally broken up with an intent to minimise the impact of tax would be subject to scrutiny/ valuation.

9.5 FAQs

- Q1. In respect of exchange of goods, namely gold watch for restaurant services, will the transaction be taxable as two different supplies or will it be taxable only in the hands of the main supplier?
- Ans. Yes, the transaction of exchange is specifically included in the scope of "supply" under Section 7. Thus, exchange could be taxable both ways. Provided the person exchanging gold watch is in the business of selling watches (A contrary view could also be taken. It depends on the facts of each and every case).
- Q2. What are examples of 'disposals' as used in 'supply'?
- Ans. "Disposals" could include donation in kind or supplies in a manner other than sale.
- Q3. Will a not-for-profit entity be liable to tax (if registered under GST) on any supplies effected by it – e.g.: sale of assets received as donation?
- Ans. Yes, it would be liable to tax on value as may be determined under Section 15, for said sale of donated assets.
- Q4. Is the levy under reverse charge mechanism applicable only to services?

Ans. Section 9(4) of the CGST Act, 2017 as amended by The CGST Amendment Act, 2018 specified that the tax shall be payable under reverse charge by the specified class of registered persons, in respect of supply of specified categories of goods.

10.1 Introduction

This Section provides for a registered person to opt for payment of taxes under a scheme of composition, the conditions attached thereto and the persons who are entitled, but not mandated, to make payment of tax under this Scheme. The conditions, restrictions, procedures and the documentation in respect of this scheme are contained in Chapter II of the Central Goods and Service Tax Rules, 2017 from Rule 3 to Rule 7 (Composition Rules).

10.2 Analysis

Tax payment under this scheme is an option available to the taxable person. This scheme would be available only to certain eligible persons.

- (a) Payment of tax: The composition scheme offers to a registered person, the option to remit taxes on the turnover as against outward supply-wise payment of taxes. In other words, the registered person opting to pay tax under the composition scheme needs only to ascertain the aggregate value of outward taxable supplies, and compute the tax thereon at a fixed rate, regardless of the actual rate of tax applicable on the said outward supply. The rate of tax prescribed in this regard is as under:
- (i) In case of manufacturers: 1% (0.5% CGST+ 0.5% SGST) of the turnover in the State/UT (Note: The rate applicable has been reduced from 2% to 1% vide Notification No. 1/2018-Central Tax dated 23.01.2018 effective 01.01.2018);
 - (ii) In case of food/restaurant services: 5% (2.5% CGST+ 2.5% SGST) of the turnover in the State/ UT (i.e., in case of composite supply of service specified in Entry 6(b) of Schedule II);
 - (iii) In case of other suppliers: 1% (0.5% CGST+ 0.5% SGST) of the turnover of taxable supplies in the State/ UT (such as like traders, agents for supply of goods, etc.)
- (b) Eligibility to pay tax under composition scheme: The conditions for eligibility to opt for payment of tax under the composition scheme is as follows:

- (i) Registered persons having an 'aggregate turnover' as defined under Section 2(6) of the Act (i.e., aggregate of turnovers across all States under the same PAN, including exempt supplies, supplies specified under Schedule I, etc.) does not exceed the prescribed limit in the preceding financial year will be eligible to opt for payment of tax under the composition scheme. Please refer to the discussion on aggregate turnover as explained in the definitions Chapter for a better understanding of the expression.

Threshold For Composition Scheme (Rs. In Lacs)
States	Period
	27.06.2017 to 12.10.2017	13.10.2017 to 31.03.2019	1.04.2019 till date
Arunachal Pradesh, Assam , Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Nagaland, Sikkim, Tripura, Himachal Pradesh	50	75
Uttarakhand	75	100	75
Andhra Pradesh, Bihar, Chhattisgarh, Goa, Gujarat, Haryana, Jharkhand, Karnataka, Kerala, Maharashtra, Odisha, Punjab, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, Telangana, Uttar Pradesh, West Bengal & Jammu and Kashmir	75	100	150

In this regard, the following may be noted:

1. The aggregate turnover of the registered person should not exceed the said prescribed limit during the financial year in which the scheme has been availed;

The 'aggregate turnover' as computed for a composition taxpayer shall not include any interest income, which is earned by way of supply of services such as extending deposits, etc. where such interest or discount is exempted under the GST Law.

Central Goods and Services Tax (Amendment) Act, 2018

The threshold limit upto which the Government has powers to notify the eligibility limit for Composition levy has been increased to Rs.1.50 crores from existing Rs.1 crore.

It is effective from 1st February, 2019.

2. As per Order No. 01/2017 dated 13.10.2017 the following is clarified:-
 - i. A person supplying restaurant services along with the supply of any exempt services shall not be eligible for composition scheme u/s 10 of CGST.
 - ii. In computing the limit of aggregate turnover in order to determine the eligibility of composition scheme, value of supply of any exempt service shall not be taken into account.
- (ii) The scheme cannot be opted for during the middle of a financial year, except in the case where the person obtains registration, and opts for composition scheme at the time of applying for registration under the GST Law:
 1. Taxable Person obtaining a new registration under GST laws: Such option can be exercised at the time of obtaining registration under section 22 in Part B of Form GST-REG-1. Such new application may also include cases of migration from the erstwhile laws. In both cases, the option to pay tax under composition scheme shall be effective from the effective date of registration. [Refer Rule 3 of CGST Rules]
 2. Registered person switches over to composition scheme: A person is required to file intimation before the commencement of the financial year for which he opts to pay tax under the scheme. In such cases, the provisions of section 18(4) shall stand attracted and the registered person shall be required to file a statement containing details of stock and inward supply of goods received from un-registered persons, held in stock, on the date immediately preceding the date. Please refer to the discussion in Section 18 for a better understanding.
- (iii) In order to be eligible to opt for the scheme, the registered person must not be in possession of stock of goods which has been purchased from unregistered persons. In any such case, due tax ought to have been paid thereon under Section 9(4);

Note: In case of migrated registrations from the erstwhile laws, the GST Law imposes an additional condition that the stock of goods held on the GST appointed day (01.07.2017) does not include any goods which have been procured in the course of inter-State trade or commerce or received from his branch/ his agent/ his principal situated outside the State or imported from a place outside India.

(iv) The registered person would not be eligible to effect any:

1. Supply of goods ⁴³[or services] through an e-commerce operator who is liable to collect tax at source (TCS) – while there is no restriction on goods supplier through a portal owned and operated by the same person;

In this regard, it may be noted that the provision for TCS has been notified to be effective from 01.10.2018.

2. Supply of ⁴⁴non-taxable goods [or services], i.e., alcoholic liquor for human consumption, petroleum crude, high speed diesel, motor spirit (commonly known as petrol), natural gas and aviation turbine fuel;
3. Supply of services, other than services specified in Entry 6(b) to Schedule II or upto limit as prescribed under second proviso to Section 10(1) i.e. 10% of the of turnover in a State or Union territory in the preceding financial year or Rs. 5 lakh, whichever is higher. In this regard, it must be noted that the Government has issued an order for the removal of difficulties to clarify that any services provided by a composition taxpayer shall not be taken into account where the consideration for the said service is by way of “interest” which is exempted from tax under the GST Law.

Removal of Difficulty Order

One of the difficulties which was initially faced by such persons was that if he earns any interest income (particularly in a proprietorship firm) then that would have been deemed to be a supply against service under GST and therefore, any registered person receiving interest income in course of furtherance of business shall be deemed to be supplying services. Thus, such registered person shall not be eligible for opting composition scheme. To overcome such difficulties an order was passed, The Central Goods and Services Tax (Removal of Difficulties) Order No. 01/2017-Central Tax, dated 13.10.2017 to clarify as under:

“(i) it is hereby clarified that if a person supplies goods and/ or services referred to in clause (b) of paragraph 6 of Schedule II of the said Act and also supplies any exempt services including services by way of extending deposits, loans or advances in so far as the consideration is represented by way of interest or discount, the said person shall not be ineligible for the composition scheme under section 10 subject to the fulfilment of all other conditions specified therein.

- (ii) it is further clarified that in computing his aggregate turnover in order to determine his eligibility for composition scheme, value of supply of any exempt services including services by way of extending deposits, loans or advances in so far as the consideration is represented by way of interest or discount, shall not be taken into account.”

Central Goods and Services Tax (Amendment) Act, 2018

A registered person under Section 10 is allowed to supply services upto a value not exceeding 10% of the turnover in a State or UT in preceding financial year or 5 lakhs whichever is higher. This has been inserted through a proviso to Section 10.

4. ⁴⁵Inter-State outward supplies of goods [or services], including supplies to SEZ unit / developer. Please note that this condition implies that the registered person will not be in a position to effect inter-State stock transfers to its own establishments located outside the State. It is also important to note that the condition is not limited to taxable supplies alone, and extends to exempt supplies as well.
- (v) Shall not collect tax: Taxable person opting to pay tax under the composition scheme is prohibited from collecting tax on the outward supplies. Care must be taken when composition taxable persons are involved in supply of MRP-goods. MRP includes output tax and selling at MRP violates this condition. The impact is far more severe as the composition facility gets rejected and full output tax is liable to be paid but input tax credit (otherwise available) would not have been availed within the relevant time permitted.
- (vi) Not entitled to input tax credit: Taxable person opting to pay tax under the composition scheme will not be eligible to claim any input tax credits.

However, if the taxable person becomes ineligible to remain under composition scheme, the taxable person will become entitled to take input tax in respect of inputs held in stock (as inputs, contained in semi-finished or finished goods) on the day immediately preceding the date from which he becomes liable to pay tax under Section 9. (Refer Section 18(1) (c) for the provision. A statement of stock shall be filed in Form GST ITC-1 within 30 days from the date from which the option is withdrawn or the order cancelling the composition option is passed).

⁴⁵ Inserted vide The Finance Act, 2020 w.e.f. date to be notified.

- (vii) The registered person must not be:
1. A manufacturer of such goods as may be notified by the Government (based on the recommendations of the GST Council), in the year for which he opts for the scheme, or in the preceding financial year (E.g. Ice cream, pan masala, tobacco). However, there is no restriction in trading of such goods, i.e., where the person has not manufactured the goods.
 2. A casual taxable person;
 3. A non-resident taxable person;
- (viii) All the registrations obtained under a single PAN are also mandated to opt for payment under the composition scheme, i.e., all the registered persons under the PAN will also be mandated to comply with all the conditions mentioned above, including the business verticals having separate registrations within the same State under the same PAN. The scheme would become applicable for all the registrations and it cannot be applied for select verticals only. E.g.: Say a company has the following businesses separately registered:
- Sale of mobile devices (Registered in Kerala)
 - Franchisee of branded restaurant (Registered in Goa)
- The scheme would be applicable for the said 2 units. The company cannot opt for composition scheme for the registration in Kerala and opt to pay taxes under the regular scheme for the registration in Goa.
- (ix) The scheme will be applicable to all the outward supplies. The option of the scheme will be qua-person and not qua-class of goods – once opted it will be applicable for all supplies effected by the registered person; it must be noted that a taxable person cannot opt for payment of taxes under composition scheme for supply of one class of goods and opt for regular scheme of payment of taxes for supply of other classes of goods or services.
- (c) Conditions applicable on a composition supplier: Once a person has opted to pay tax under the composition scheme, the following conditions would stand attracted:
- (i) Every notice or signboard in every registered place of business, displayed at a prominent place, shall carry the words “Composition taxable person”;
 - (ii) Every bill of supply issued by the composition suppliers shall carry the declaration “Composition taxable person, not eligible to collect tax on supplies” on top of the bill;
 - (iii) RCM on inward supplies: The composition supplier shall be liable to make payment at the rate applicable on the supply in respect of every inward supply liable to tax under the reverse charge mechanism, regardless of the rate of tax that is applied by him on the outward supplies effected by him. It may be noted that the value of such inward supplies would not be included in the aggregate turnover of the composition taxpayer although the liability is discharged by him on such inward supplies;

- (iv) Not entitled to collect tax: The composition taxpayer is prohibited from collecting any GST/ Cess applicable on the outward supplies effected by him. Accordingly, the recipients of supply would also not be eligible to claim any credits where the inward supply is from a composition taxpayer;
- (v) Not entitled to claim credit of taxes paid: The composition taxpayer is not entitled to claim credit in respect of taxes paid by him on any of the inward supplies effected by him, including inward supplies on which he pays tax under reverse charge mechanism.
- (vi) A Composition supplier shall not be entitled to issue any tax invoice. However, to effect supplies of goods/ services the supplier will have to issue "Bill of Supply" without indicating any tax amount on it.

However, if the composition taxpayer switches over to become a regular taxpayer, he will be entitled to take input tax in respect of inputs held in stock (as inputs, contained in semi-finished or finished goods) on the day immediately preceding the date from which he becomes liable to pay tax under Section 9 (regular taxpayer). Refer the discussion in Section 18(1) (c) for a better understanding of the provisions.

- (d) Important Note: The option to pay tax under the composition scheme will remain valid so long as the registered persons comply with all of the aforesaid conditions in (b) and (c) above. The composition suppliers will be treated as any other registered supplier with effect from the date on which any of the said conditions cease to be complied with. The composition suppliers would not be entitled to re-enter the scheme until the expiry of the financial year.
 - (i) The registered person would be required to file an intimation (suo motu) for withdrawal from the scheme within 7 days of the non-compliance;
 - (ii) The registered person may also file an intimation if he wishes to withdraw from the scheme, before the effective date of withdrawal, and such withdrawal can be applied for anytime during the financial year.

Once granted, the eligibility would be valid unless the permission is cancelled or is withdrawn or the person becomes ineligible for the scheme.

- (iii) Cancellation of permission: Where the proper officer has reasons to believe that the taxable person was not eligible to the composition scheme, the proper officer may cancel the permission (in order CMP-7) and demand the following:

- (a) Differential tax and interest – viz., tax payable under the other provisions of the Act after deducting the tax paid under composition scheme;
 - (b) Penalty determined based on the demand provisions under Section 73 or 74.
- (e) Comments specific to migration cases (transition from the erstwhile law to the GST regime): In case of migration of old registration into registration under GST, option to avail composition scheme under GST Laws can be exercised only if the goods held in stock by such taxable person, on the appointed day have not been purchased in the course of inter-State trade or commerce or imported from a place outside India or received from his branch situated outside the State, or from his agent or principal outside the State.
- (i) As per rule 3(1) of the CGST Rules, in cases involving migration, there is need to exercise such option for composition in Form GST CMP-01 prior to appointed date or within 30 days after the appointed date. In this case, the option to pay tax under composition scheme shall be effective from the appointed date. This date has further been extended to 16.08.2017. Such person would be required to file stock statement under Rule 3(4) in Form GST CMP-03 within a period of 90 days (extended from 60 days to 90 days by Notification No. 22/2017 dated 17.8.2017 from the date on which the option for composition levy is exercised or within such further period as may be extended by the Commissioner in this behalf. Such date was extended further till 31.01.2018 vide Order No. 11/2017-GST dated 21.12.2017.
 - (ii) A new sub-rule (3A) was inserted by Notification No. 34/2017-Central Tax, dated 15.09.2017, which has an overriding effect on provisions of sub-rule (1), (2) and (3). It may be noted that, the purpose of rule (3A) is only to enable the persons to opt for composition scheme in the first year of GST implementation, without making them to wait up to the next financial year. This is on account of the fact that, the threshold limit for the purposes of Composition scheme u/s 10 was enhanced twice i.e. once on 27.06.2017 and then again on 13.10.2017. Hence, sub-rule (3A) would only cover cases, where the application is made prior to 31.03.2018. For all applications made during the financial year 2018-19, the matter would be governed by Rule 3(3).

10.3 Comparative review

Under the erstwhile tax laws, the scheme of composition is provided for in most State level VAT laws. The conditions prescribed under the GST law for composition scheme is broadly comparable to the conditions / restrictions under the State level VAT laws.

10.4 Issues & concerns

1. An amendment of the rate applicable to the supplies effected by composition suppliers was made with effect from 01.01.2018. In this regard, attention is drawn to the rate applicable to traders which reads as follows – “half per cent of the turnover of taxable supplies of goods in the State or Union territory”. It must be noted that the highlighted expression, more specifically, “of taxable supplies” is missing in the rate entries applicable to manufacturers and restaurant service providers. Therefore, the said 2 classes of persons would be liable to pay tax on the turnover in State, whether or not the supplies are exempted from tax.

SPECIAL SCHEME IN CASE OF INTRA-STATE SUPPLY OF GOODS OR SERVICES OR BOTH WITH TAX RATE OF 6%

The Central Government vide Notification No. 2/2019-Central Tax (Rate) dated 07th March, 2019 has notified Composition scheme in case of intra-State supply of goods or services or both, at the rate along with the conditions specified below:

Description of supply	Rate (per cent)	Conditions
First supplies of goods or services or both up to an aggregate turnover of Rs. 50 lakhs made on or after the 1st day of April in any financial year, by a registered person.	3	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Supplies are made by a registered person, <ol style="list-style-type: none"> whose aggregate turnover in the preceding financial year was Rs. 50 lakh or below; who is not eligible to pay tax under sub-section (1) of section 10; who is not engaged in making any supply which is not leviable to tax; who is not engaged in making any inter-State outward supply; who is neither a casual taxable person nor a non-resident taxable person; who is not engaged in making any supply through an electronic commerce operator who is required to collect tax at source under section 52; and who is not engaged in making supplies of: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Ice cream and other edible ice, whether or not containing cocoa. Pan masala Tobacco and manufactured tobacco substitutes Where more than one registered persons are having same PAN, central tax on supplies by all such registered persons is paid at the given rate. The registered person shall not collect any tax from the recipient nor shall he be entitled to any credit of input tax. The registered person shall issue, instead of tax invoice, a bill of supply. The registered person shall mention the following words at the top of the bill of supply, namely: - 'Taxable person paying tax in terms of Notification No. 2/2019-Central Tax (Rate) dated 07.03.2019, not eligible to collect tax on supplies'.

		6. Liability to pay central tax at the rate of 3% on all outward supplies notwithstanding any other notification issued under section 9 or section 11 of said Act. 7. Liability to pay central tax on inward supplies on reverse charge under sub-section (3) or sub-section (4) of section 9 of said Act. Explanation: For the purposes of this notification, the expression “first supplies of goods or services or both” shall, for the purposes of determining eligibility of a person to pay tax under this notification, include the supplies from the first day of April of a financial year to the date from which he becomes liable for registration under the said Act but for the purpose of determination of tax payable under this notification shall not include the supplies from the first day of April of a financial year to the date from which he becomes liable for registration under the Act.

Important Note: It may be noted that while computing aggregate turnover in order to determine eligibility of a registered person to pay central tax at the rate of 3%, value of supply of exempt services by way of extending deposits, loans or advances in so far as the consideration is represented by way of interest or discount, shall not be taken into account.

Analysis:

With effect from 1st April 2019 a new composition scheme has come into force in case of intra-State supply of goods or services or both, at the rate of 6% (3% CGST + 3% SGST) for first supplies of goods or services or both up to an aggregate turnover of Rs. 50 lakhs made on or after the 1st day of April in any financial year by a registered person subject to certain conditions.

This is an optional facility through a rate notification that is ‘notwithstanding’ any other rate notification issued. Therefore, the notification overrides Notification No. 11/2017-Central Tax (Rate). As it is optional, registered person should carefully consider the conditions before opting for the same. This facility and composition scheme under section 10 operates as mutually exclusive. Thus, traders and manufacturers of goods and restaurant service providers who are eligible for composition (even if not opted) will not enter into this facility.

Eligibility to pay tax under composition scheme:

Supplies are made by a registered person, -

1. whose aggregate turnover in the preceding financial year was Rs. 50 lakh or below;
2. who is not eligible to pay tax under sub-section (1) of section 10;
3. who is not engaged in making any supply which is not leviable to tax;
4. who is not engaged in making any inter-State outward supply;
5. who is neither a casual taxable person nor a non-resident taxable person;
6. who is not engaged in making any supply through an electronic commerce operator who is required to collect tax at source under section 52; and
7. who is not engaged in making supplies of:

Statutory Provision

11. Power to grant exemption from tax

- (1) Where the Government is satisfied that it is necessary in the public interest so to do, it may, on the recommendations of the Council, by notification, exempt generally, either absolutely or subject to such conditions as may be specified therein, goods or services or both of any specified description from the whole or any part of the tax leviable thereon with effect from such date as may be specified in such notification.
- (2) Where the Government is satisfied that it is necessary in the public interest so to do, it may, on the recommendations of the Council, by special order in each case, under circumstances of an exceptional nature to be stated in such order, exempt from payment of tax any goods or services or both on which tax is leviable.
- (3) The Government may, if it considers necessary or expedient so to do for the purpose of clarifying the scope or applicability of any notification issued under sub-section (1) or order issued under sub-section (2), insert an explanation in such notification or order, as the case may be, by notification at any time within one year of issue of the notification under sub-section (1) or order under sub-section (2), and every such explanation shall have effect as if it had always been the part of the first such notification or order, as the case may be.

Explanation. —For the purposes of this section, where an exemption in respect of any goods or services or both from the whole or part of the tax leviable thereon has been granted absolutely, the registered person supplying such goods or services or both shall not collect the tax, in excess of the effective rate, on such supply of goods or services or both.

11.1 Introduction

This provision confers powers on the Central Government to exempt either absolutely or conditionally goods or services or both of any specified description from whole or part of the central tax, on the recommendations of the Council. It also confers power on the Central Government to exempt from payment of tax any goods or services or both, by special order, on recommendation of the Council.

11.2 Analysis

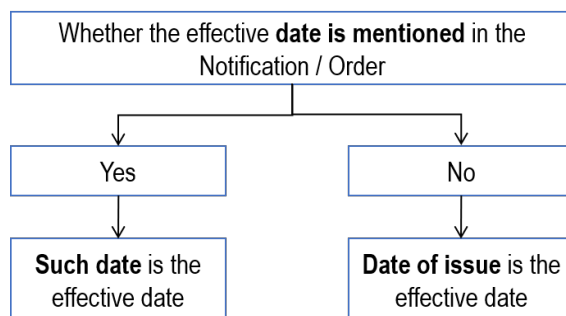

The Central or the State Governments are empowered to grant exemptions from tax, subject to the following conditions:

- (i) Exemption should be in public interest;
- (ii) By way of issue of notification;
- (iii) On recommendation from the Council;
- (iv) Absolute/ conditional exemption may be for any goods and/ or services of any specified description. In this regard, it may be noted that the exemption would be in respect of the supply and not specifically for any classes of persons. E.g.: An absolute exemption could be granted in respect of supply of water. Whereas, a conditional exemption could be granted for supply of goods to canteen stores department.
- (v) Exemption by way of special order (and not notification) may be granted by citing the circumstances which are of exceptional nature.
- (vi) The GST Law specifies that a registered person supplying the goods and/ or services is not entitled to collect a tax higher than the effective rate, where the supply enjoys an absolute exemption.

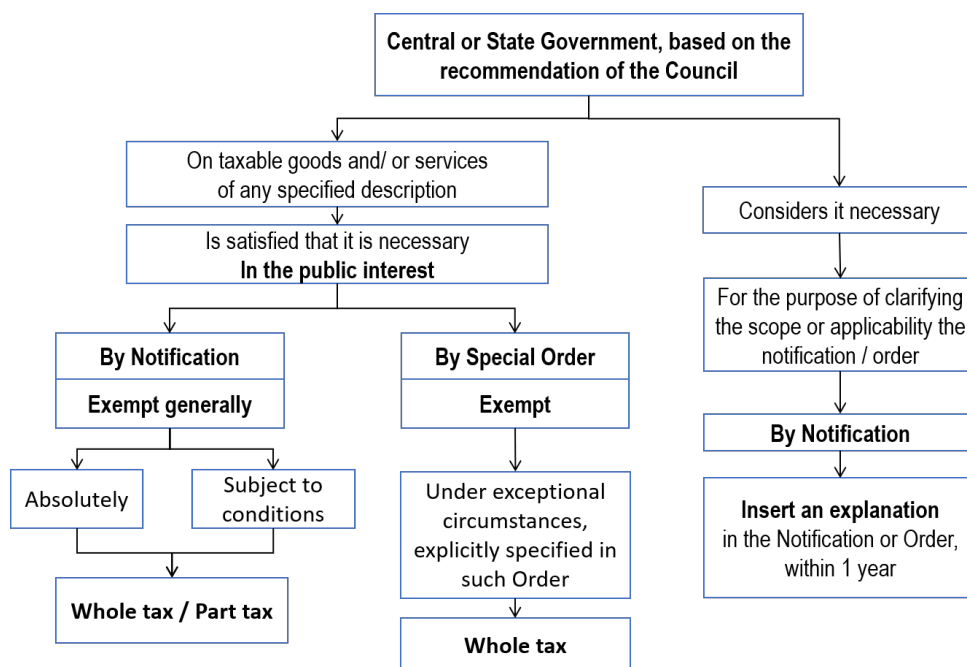

Effective date of the notification or special order:

The effective date of the notification or the special order would be date which is so mentioned in the notification or special order. However, if no date is mentioned therein, it would be:

- Date of its issue for publication in the official gazette;
- Date on which it is made available on the official website of the Government Department.

The analysis of above provision in a pictorial form is summarised as follows:

Exemption under one GST Law and the effect on another GST Law:

An exemption issued under the CGST Act will 'automatically' exempt the same supply from the levy of tax under the SGST/UTGST Act. This is provided under the SGST/UTGST Act. But the converse is not necessarily applicable, that is, exemption under an SGST/UTGST Act will not exempt levy of tax under the CGST Act.

Exemption under CGST Act	Deemed to be exempt under SGST Act
	Deemed to be exempt under UTGST Act
	No auto-application of exemption under IGST Act
Exemption under IGST Act	No auto-application of exemption under CGST Act

Clarification on a Notification / Special Order

The law also provides for the Government to embed a clarification to such notification or special order, by way of an "Explanation", at any time within a period of 1 year from the date of the said notification or special order. Such explanation inserted within the timelines would have a retrospective effect, viz., from the effective date of the relevant notification or special order.

Section 11 – Illustrations

- Services by a veterinary clinic in relation to health care of animals or birds.

Notification No. 12/2017 - Central Tax (Rate) dt.28.06.2017

11.3 Comparative review

The provisions relating to exemption are broadly similar to the exemption provisions under the erstwhile tax regime. There are no significant differences.

CLASSIFICATION

Introduction

Unlike Customs law, GST law does not contain a commodity classification tariff, these are contained within the notification which prescribes the rate of tax. Classification, therefore, is an exercise that is inevitable to identify the specific entry in any of the 6 schedules for determining the rate of tax on the supply of goods or services. The revenue department could object to the rate adopted or exemption claimed when the error is observed at the time of assessment, investigation or revenue audit. This could lead to multiple demands at all stages of supply and also denial of credit. The customer may object to the classification or the rate. The assessee himself may come to know of the error due to competitors using different rates, paying or not paying, attending some awareness session, reading articles, books. Errors may also come to light at the time of due diligence, internal audit, statutory audit, outsourced consultant changing, etc.

Errors in GST classification – Impact

Many taxpayers could suffer loss of business in period of uncertainty till proper classification is arrived at as they may have adopted some rate for their supplies since they could not afford to stop business for want of HSN. After that they may be following the same incorrect classification unless there is any objection.

The cost of errors would include the following:

1. In case of higher tax being charged, taxpayer may have to suffer the loss of orders and cost of re-establishing business with the customers, the loss of credibility with customers. The cost of discounts given to retain the customer due to incorrect rate is inevitable.
2. In case of goods or services supplied which are nil rated or exempted the non-availability of credit can be fatal for the business if this claim for exemption is not accurately made by the supplier. In other words, where exemption is availed erroneously, demand for output tax will be made without any facility to allow credit that could have been availed. Similarly, where exemption is omitted to be claimed, there would be a scenario of recovery of input tax credit being ineligible from the start. Demands may be made at multiple stages of the supply chain. This is a major departure from the earlier regime.
3. In case of short charge due to incorrect classification or claim of exemption which is not available, would result in non-recoverability of taxes from the customers and cost of interest. In business, breaking the credit chain could make business unviable.
4. Valuation methods prescribed for certain categories of goods and/ or services would be dependent on the classification of such goods and/ or services. Wrong classification would lead to wrong payment of tax.
5. On certain goods and/ or services, GST is to be discharged by the recipient of supply under reverse charge mechanism. Wrong classification may result in non-payment of tax or un-necessary payment of tax.
6. Denial of benefits under FTP such as duty drawback and incentives being provided for various goods and/ or services at varied rates can be the result of incorrect classification of goods/ services.
7. Non-payment of Compensation Cess, if any, applicable on specified goods and/ or services which may result in penal proceedings over and above the interest liability.
8. Calculating incorrect liability on import of goods/ services or not claiming the ITC (Input Tax Credit) benefit of export on goods/ services exports due to improper classification could also happen. This could happen when the alternative headings available have different import/ export criterion being applicable to them.

In case of revenue raising the short charge or ineligible exemption issues, in addition to the above costs: the cost of penalty, denial of credit availed, cost of dispute resolution at adjudication, appeal, Court stages also would arise. It would also result in internal manpower resources getting substantially involved to resolve the issue inspite of the fact that a specialist in GST may be outsourced to prepare the reply, appearance etc.

Analysis

(i) Classification of Goods or Services:

In order to apply a particular rate of tax, one needs to determine the classification of the supply as to whether the supply constitutes a supply of goods or services or both. Once the same is determined in terms of Section 7 and 8, a further classification in terms of HSN of goods and services has to be made so as to arrive at the rate of tax applicable to the supply. At the outset, it is important to note that HSN for goods are contained in Chapters from 1 to 98 and SAC/ HSN for Services are contained as Chapter 99 notified as the 'Scheme of Classification of Services' provided as an Annexure to the Notification issued for rate of tax (CGST) applicable to services (i.e., Annexure to Notification No. 11/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 28.06.2017).

The Classification of Goods is older and is based on knowledge gathered from precedents on HSN classification, as an adaptation from that formulated by the World Customs Organisation. The suggested steps for determination of proper classification of goods are as under:

1. The classification of each supply has to be made separately for every individual supply, regardless of the form of supply (such as sale/ transfer/ disposal including by-products, scraps etc.)
2. Identify the description and nature of the goods being supplied. One must confirm that the product is also more specifically covered in the Customs Tariff. The Section Notes and Chapter Notes specified in the Customs Tariff would squarely apply to the Tariff Schedules under the GST Law, and ought to be read as an integral part of the Tariff for the purpose of classification.
3. If there is any ambiguity, first reference shall be made to the 'Rules of Interpretation' of the First Schedule to the Customs Tariff Act, 1975.
 - (a) As per the Rules, first step to be applied is to find the trade understanding of the terms used in the Schedule, if the meaning or description of goods is not clear.
 - (b) If the trade understanding is not available, the next step is to refer to the technical or scientific meaning of the term. If the tariff headings have technical or scientific meanings, then that has to be ascertained first before the test of trade understanding.
 - (c) If none of the above is available reference may be made to the dictionary meaning or ISI specifications. Evidence may be gathered on end use or predominant use.
4. In case of the unfinished or incomplete goods, if the unfinished goods bear the essential characteristics of the finished goods, its classification shall be the same as that of the finished goods.

5. If the classification is not ascertained as per above point, one has to look for the nature of goods which is more specific.
6. If the classification is still not determinable, one has to look for the ingredient which gives the goods its essential characteristics.

(iii) Requirement of Classification

It may seem like classification may not be so cumbersome, and tools such as experience, logic and common sense are sufficient to identify the classification, and to interpret the tariff notifications. However, a quick look at some examples would drive home the need to pay close attention to the principles of classification. Let us consider the following examples:

- (1) a 'watch made of gold' – an article of gold or a watch, albeit an expensive one?
- (2) a confectionary product 'hajmola' – an ayurvedic medicaments or remains confectionary sweets?
- (3) surgical gloves – latex products or accessories to healthcare services?
- (4) mirror cut-to-size for automobiles – article of glass or accessories to motor vehicles fitted as rear-view mirror?

As can be seen from the few instances mentioned above, classification is not one that is free from doubt. When coupled with differential rates of tax, the scope for misclassification is bound to be reinforced with motivation to either reduce the tax incidence/ or to pay a higher tax to circumvent any possible interest and penalty. Both these motivations can work on either side – industry as well as tax administration.

Approach to Classification

The notifications prescribing the rate of tax in respect of goods as well as services contain explanations as to how the classification must be undertaken. Extracts of some of those explanations are provided below for ease of reference:

(iii) "Tariff item", "sub-heading" "heading" and "Chapter" shall mean respectively a tariff item, sub-heading, heading and chapter as specified in the First Schedule to the Customs Tariff Act, 1975 (51 of 1975).

Notification 1/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 28 June, 2017

4. Explanation.- For the purposes of this notification,-

- (i) Goods include capital goods.
- (ii) Reference to “Chapter”, “Section” or “Heading”, wherever they occur, unless the context otherwise requires, shall mean respectively as “Chapter”, “Section” and “Heading” in the annexed scheme of classification of services (Annexure).
- (iii) The rules for the interpretation of the First Schedule to the Customs Tariff Act, 1975 (51 of 1975), the Section and Chapter Notes and the General Explanatory Notes of the First Schedule shall, so far as may be, apply to the interpretation of heading 9988.

Notification 11/2017-Central Tax (Rate) dated 28 June, 2017

As can be seen from the above, the notification prescribing the rate of tax itself specifies the approach that is to be followed for purposes of classification, namely:

- (a) in respect of goods, the notification requires reference to be made to the First Schedule to Customs Tariff Act 1975: A quick look at these would help us to recognize the approach that needs to be followed for classification.

THE CUSTOMS TARIFF ACT, 1975 (51 OF 1975)

An act to consolidate and amend the law relating to customs duties.

Be it enacted by Parliament in the Twenty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:-

1. (1) This Act may be called the Customs Tariff Act, 1975.
- (2) It extends to the whole of India.
- (3) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.
2. The rates at which duties of customs shall be levied under the Customs Act, 1962, are specified in the First and Second Schedules,

The above table is an adaptation of the Harmonized System of Nomenclature (HSN) established for aiding in uniformity in Customs classification in international trade between member countries of World Customs Organization. It was drafted under the aegis of Customs Cooperation Council Nomenclature, Brussels. It was adopted for Customs purposes by India in 1975 and readapted (with some changes) for Central Excise in 1985 and now for purposes of GST in 2017. Please bear in mind that reference to the original HSN would be of much help in understanding the scope of any entry to understand the full extent of meaning implied in any entry found while reading Customs Tariff Act. Refer www.wcoomd.org where the HSN is available for purchase or subscription from World Customs Organization.

- (b) in respect of services, the notification requires reference to the Annexure which contains the Scheme of Classification: The Annexure is appended to the CGST rate notification and contains entries under Chapter 99 (although there is no such Chapter for services in the HSN prescribed under the Customs Law). Additionally, Explanatory Notes to such classification were recently issued to assist in interpretation of various entries in the Annexure to the rate notification:

- (iv) In this regard, it may also be noted that the tariff entries in case of certain services refer to the rate of tax applicable to the relevant goods. In the following cases of supply of services, the rate of tax applicable as on a supply of like goods involving transfer of title in goods, would be applicable on the supply of services:

Chapter, Section or Heading	Description of Service
Heading 9971 (Financial and related services)	(ii) Transfer of the right to use any goods for any purpose (whether or not for a specified period) for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration.
	(iii) Any transfer of right in goods or of undivided share in goods without the transfer of title thereof.
Heading 9973 (Leasing or rental services, with or without operator)	(iii) Transfer of the right to use any goods for any purpose (whether or not for a specified period) for cash, deferred payment or other valuable consideration.

	(iv) Any transfer of right in goods or of undivided share in goods without the transfer of title thereof.
	(vi) Leasing or rental services, with or without operator, other than (i), (ii), (iii), (iv) and (v) above.

The only exception to the above table is leasing of motor vehicle which was purchased by the lesser prior to July 1, 2017, leased before the GST appointed date (i.e., 01.07.2017) and no credit of central excise, VAT or any other taxes on such motor vehicle had been availed by him. If all these conditions are fulfilled, then the lessor is liable to pay GST only on 65% of the GST applicable on such motor vehicle. – Refer Notification No.37/2017- Central Tax (Rate) dated 13.10.2017.

(v) Customs Tariff Act – Rules of Interpretation

The rules of interpretation contained in the Customs Tariff Act provide guidance regarding the approach to be followed for reading and interpreting tariff entries. These rules are merely summarized and listed below for convenience, whereas a detailed study of the rules is advised from commentaries and value-added updated tariff publications. Please refer to Customs Tariff Act for full set of Rules of Interpretation.

- Rule 1: headings are for reference only and do not have statutory force for classification;
- Rule 2(a): reference to an article in an entry includes that article in CKD-SKD condition;
- Rule 2(b): reference to articles in an entry includes mixtures or combination;
- Rule 3(a): where alternate classification available, specific description to be preferred;
- Rule 3(b): rely on the material that gives essential character to the article;
- Rule 3(c): apply that which appears later in the tariff as later-is-better;
- Rule 4: examine the function performed that is found in other akin goods;
- Rule 5: cases-packaging are to be classified with the primary article;
- Rule 6: when more than one entry is available, compare only if they are at same level.

(vi) Role of 'Manufacture' in Classification

Classification would be well understood by applying the above rules of interpretation. Now, the process that goods are passed through can impact their classification. For example, cutting, slicing and packing pineapple in cans in sugar syrup has primary input of pineapple and the output is canned fruit with extended shelf-life. Now, the input and output are not identical, but it has been held in the case of "Pio Food Packers" that this is not a process amounting to manufacture. But, would it be possible to regard the input and the output to retain the same classification. The answer lies in knowing the scope of each entry applicable to classification. Another example, Kraft paper used to make packing boxes may be sold as it is or after laminating them. It has been held in the case of Laminated Packaging that this process is manufacture even though the input and output fall within the same classification entry. GST Law has adopted, in section 2(72), the general understanding of manufacture that is very similar to that in Central Excise. The real test from this definition – is the input and output functionally interchangeable or not in the opinion of a knowledgeable end-user – and not based on the classification entry. Change in classification entry from one to the other, that is, classification entry for input is not the same as that of the output, could only arouse suspicion about the possibility of manufacture. Please note that 'manufacture' is included in the definition of 'business' (in section 2(17)) but it is not included as a 'form of supply' (in section 7(1) (a) or anywhere else). Hence, the nature of the process that inputs are put through may not be manufacture but yet may appear to move the output into a different entry compared to the input. So, would change of classification entry be relevant or degree of change produced in the input due to the process carried out must be considered. With the adoption of HSN based classification from Custom Tariff Act, it is imperative to carefully consider whether one entry has been split and sub-divided into categories even if they both carry the similar rate of tax. Hence, the key aspects to consider are:

- Identify the scope of an entry for classification of input or output
- Study the nature of process carried out on the inputs
- Examine by the 'test' (above) if result of the process is manufacture
- Now identify the classification applicable to the output

For example, is 'desiccating a coconut' a process of manufacture? If yes, the desiccated coconut ought not to be considered as eligible to the same rate of tax as coconut. Drying grains may not appear to be a process of manufacture but frying them could be manufacture as the grains are no longer 'seed grade' although it resembles the grain.

Manufacture need not be a very elaborate process. It can be a simple process but one that brings about a distinct new product – in the opinion of a knowledgeable end-use – and not just any person with no particular familiarity with the article. Manufacture need not be an irreversible process. It can be reversible yet until reversed it is recognized as a distinct new product, again, in the opinion of those knowledgeable in it. Processes such as assembly may be manufacture in relation to some articles but not in others. So, caution is advised in generalizing these verbs – assembly, cutting, polishing, etc. – but examining the degree of change produced and the identity secured by the output in the relevant trade as to the functional inter-changeability of the output with the input. If a knowledgeable end-use would accept either input or output albeit with some reservation, then it is unlikely to be manufacture. But, if this knowledgeable end-user would refuse to accept them to be interchangeable, then the process carried out is most likely manufacture. Usage of common description of the input and output does not assure continuity of classification for the two.

(vii) Role of 'Supplier Status' in Classification

This is best explained with an illustration – a restaurant buys aerated beverage on payment of GST at 28% +12% including cess and on resale of this beverage as part of food served as a combo with 'composition status' under Section 10 of CGST Act, the rate of tax on this beverage would be 5%. Therefore, it is important to note that classification can undergo a change depending upon the 'status' of the Supplier. Another illustration could be medicaments which are taxed at 5% would be exempt from tax when they are administered by the hospital to casualty/ emergency admissions and to in-patients even if billed separately in the invoice issued to patient by the hospital.

(viii) Classification for Exemptions

In GST law the exemptions are set out under section 11 of the whole of the tax payable or a part of it. In granting exemptions, it is not necessary that the exemption be made applicable to the entire entry. In other words, exemption notifications are capable of carving out a portion from an entry so as differentially alter the rate of tax applicable to goods or services within that entry. Exemptions can take any of the following forms:

- Supplier may be exempt – here, regardless of the nature of outward supply, exemption apply to the supplier. Conditions specified may make such exemption be applicable to the supplier but when the supplies are made to specified recipients

Sl. No.	Chapter, Section, Heading, Group or Service Code (Tariff)	Description of Services	Rate (per cent.)	Condition
1.	Chapter 99	Services by an entity registered under section 12AA of the Income-tax Act, 1961 (43 of 1961) by way of charitable activities.	Nil	Nil

- Supplies may be exempt – here, the supplier is not as relevant and all supplies that are notified would enjoy the exemption. Conditions specified may help to determine the supplies that are to be allowed the exemption.

28	Heading 9971	(a) Services by way of— (a) extending deposits, loans or advances in so far as the consideration is represented by way of interest or discount (other than interest involved in credit card services); (b) inter se sale or purchase of foreign currency amongst banks or authorised dealers of foreign exchange or amongst banks and such dealers.	Nil	Nil

(ix) Role of 'Conditions' in Exemptions

It is well understood that conditions in exemption notifications tend to convert the exemption into an option, that is, the exempted/ concessional rate of tax would apply when the conditions are fulfilled and by deviating from the conditions, the full rate of tax would apply. This principle has been tested in the context of Section 5A of the Central Excise Act. However, a quick look at the Explanation to Section 11 of the CGST Act (reproduced below) appears to indicate that unless an express option is granted in the exemption notification, the concessional or exempted rate of tax along with attendant conditions must be availed without any discretion to opt out of it.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, where an exemption in respect of any goods or services or both from the whole or part of the tax leviable thereon has been granted absolutely, the registered person supplying such goods or services or both shall not collect the tax, in excess of the effective rate, on such supply of goods or services or both.

While there may be alternate views that the above explanation applies only when the exemption is 'granted absolutely' and not in all cases, such a view may find the contradiction where one entry in an exemption notification prescribes a concessional rate of tax that applies its restriction on input tax credit, while another entry in the very same notification prescribes two rates of tax where one of them enjoins restriction on input tax credit.

And the reason for resisting the view that – exemption with the condition is an option – is when the Government felt free to specify two alternate tax consequences in respect of a given entry in one case (GTA, in above illustration), there is no justification to make an assumption about the existence of an option even when in the very same notification that government opted to notify only one tax consequence. Accordingly, it would be a reasonable construction that – exemption is a condition is not an option – and all court decisions under earlier laws to the contrary are rendered otiose in view of the explanation to section 11.

Illustration below shows a style where exemption would 'not be optional':

Sl. No.	Chapter, Section, Heading, Group or Service Code (Tariff)	Description of Services	Rate (per cent)	Condition
8	Heading 9964 (Passenger transport services)	(i) Transport of passengers, with or without accompanied belongings, by rail in first class or air conditioned coach.	2.5	Provided that credit of input tax charged on goods and services used in supplying the service, is not utilized for paying central tax or integrated tax on the supply of service.

The following illustration is a style of drafting exemption entries that is 'not optional':

8	Heading 9964 (Passenger transport services)	(i) Transport of passengers, with or without accompanied belongings, by rail in first class or air conditioned coach.	2.5	Provided that credit of input tax charged on goods and services used in supplying the service, other than the input tax credit of input service in the same line of business (i.e. service procured from another service provider of transporting passengers in a motor vehicle or renting of a motor vehicle), has not been taken. (x) Composite Supply vs. Mixed Supply

Reference can also be made to the discussion on Composite Supply and Mixed Supply which can assist in classification of the supply into goods based on the principal supply in a transaction or that part of the transaction which carries the highest rate.

(xi) CGST Amendment Act, 2018

The CGST Act, 2017 has been retrospectively amended from July 1, 2017 to provide that transactions covered under Schedule II are not supplies but if they qualify as supplies then such transactions are to be 'treated' for the purpose of determining the relevant rate notification, HSN Code, Time of Supply, Place of Supply and other consequential implications.

(xii) Classification of Works Contract

Schedule II provides that works contract would be taxed as services and hence irrespective of the value of goods involved in the contract, works contract would be treated as services. Works Contract has been defined at Section 2(119) of the CGST Act to provide that construction, commissioning, fabrication etc related to immovable property would only be treated as works contract. Thus, any activity related to movable property though understood as works contract under the erstwhile laws would not be treated as works contract under the GST law and will have to be classified based on the concept of composite supply.

(xiii) Conclusion

In light of the foregoing discussion, the following points of learning can be summarized:

- (a) transactions involving goods are, in certain cases, required to be treated as supply of services. As such, the fundamental classification to be undertaken is the differentiation between goods and services;
- (b) classification of goods and services cannot be made based on logic, experience or common sense. But, recourse to rules of interpretation in the First Schedule to Customs Tariff Act is mandatory in relation to classification of goods. And reference to the scheme of classification (contained in the annexure) is inevitable in relation to classification of services. There can be no interchange in the use of the relevant classification rules between goods and services;
- (c) classification in GST requires a deep appreciation of the technical understanding of words and phrases in each domain and any urge to use the common meaning of such words and phrases must be actively discouraged. In other words, even if the common meaning of certain words and phrases appears reasonable, it must be understood that government has deliberately and mindfully words to give specific interpretation in the relevant trade;

- (d) classification is not only required to determine the rate of tax applicable but also examine the availability of exemptions. There is no compulsion for an exemption notification to exempt correctly what is the carveout from an entry a subset of transactions – supplies or suppliers – to attract a different rate of tax;
- (e) exemptions are not optional as are the conditions prescribed in respect of such exemption. Violation of the condition contracts consequences and not options. 'Absolutely exempt' does not mean 'wholly exempt' and it does not require to be 'unconditionally exempt' to be 'absolutely exempt'.

Common Errors in Classification

The errors/ deliberate action which could lead to exposure should the extent possible be avoided. The errors would include many, some of them illustrated below:

- (i) Classifying the supply for lower rate of GST without merit- This may be due to competition or due to fact that the buyer is unable to avail the credit.
- (ii) Classifying the supply under higher slab to avoid dispute – Though there may not be any demand- customer may have some objection and raise a debit note in future. It lead to higher working capital.
- (iii) Classifying under wrong heading considering applicability of the same rate- This may not have any commercial impact as there is no rate difference. However when the rate changes there may be a problem.
- (iv) Classifying the supplies based on convenience of operation – This may not be advisable as it is bound to lead to disputes for self as well as the customers.
- (v) Classifying the supplies incorrectly to claim of exemption – This would also be disastrous as demands if any can cripple the enterprise.
- (vi) Classifying the services considering the place of supply to claim as export etc – This can lead to a) demand for GST as supply is liable b) denial of credit due to time lapse or if longer period invoked and c) Demand for excess refund with interest and penalties.
- (vii) Similar to above classifying differently to avoid Reverse charge mechanism. – This could also lead to demand.
- (viii) Classifying under residuary entry when specific entry or general entry is available.

The proper classification is the foundation to avoid disputes with customers as well as demands from the revenue. The applicability of rates (which have changed in between) and exemptions (have been notified and withdrawn) requires the updated knowledge as well as the information of the past changes.

11.4 Issues and concerns

1. The law provides that tax shall not be collected at a rate higher than the effective rate of tax applicable on a supply enjoying an absolute exemption. In this regard, there is one school of thought wherein it is inferred that this provision is specific to absolute exemptions only, and in case of conditional exemptions, there is an option available to the registered supplier to collect tax from a recipient (Such a methodology, if adopted by suppliers, would imply that the requirement for input tax credit reversals under Section 17(2) of the Act would not stand attracted). The other view is that the conditional exemptions are not optional, but are mandatory when the conditions relating to the exemption are satisfied.
2. On similar lines, it is to be noted that the restriction imposed by law is upon the "collection" of tax. Therefore, certain registered suppliers may resort to payment of tax without collection thereof, in order to effect only taxable supplies whereby they would not be required to undergo the hassle of reversal of input taxes. However, the issue would arise as regards the documentation. A registered supplier may consider issuing a tax invoice instead of a bill of supply, against a supply that is wholly exempt, and specifying in the tax invoice prominently, that the recipient is not required to pay the tax charged on the invoice on the basis that the supply is exempted under law. However, this practice is frowned upon, as this methodology is not entirely in compliance with the provisions of the law. It is also important to note that the GST Law casts an obligation on the supplier to prove that he has not collected taxes in such situations.

11.5 Relevance of Section 11 in GSTR-9, 9A and 9C

1. Pt. 5D of GSTR-9 requires details comprising of Taxable Value, CGST, SGST, IGST and Cess as applicable, in respect of "Exempted Outward Supplies". Further, the instructions annexed to the Form also clarify that Table 8 of Form GSTR-1 may be used for filling up the above-mentioned details.
2. Pt. 6B of GSTR-9A also requires details comprising of Turnover, Rate of Tax, CGST, SGST, IGST and Cess as applicable, in respect of "Exempted Outward Supplies" as declared in returns filed during the financial year.
3. Pt. 7B of GSTR-9C requires the value of Exempted, NIL Rated, Non-GST supplies, No Supply turnover. Further, the instructions annexed to the form contain a clarification that the figure so reported shall be net of credit notes, debit notes and amendments, if any.
